Millar Bill For Using Inheritance Taxes For Schools Is Helped Along

By Associated Press
Madison, Wis.—The Caldwell bill abolishing the state teachers retirement system, established by the last legislature, was engrossed by the assembly today. The assembly thus reversed its action of last week when by a vote of 42 to 38 it declined to engross the measure.

The vote on reconsideration was 45 to 24. Assemblymen Caldwell, Grand and Vincent took the floor in favor of the bill while Assemblyman Matheson was the sole opponent. The latter declared the retirement system was needed to stabilize the teaching profession. He also declared that abolition of the system would constitute a moral breach of contract made by the state with the teachers when it established the retirement fund. Mr. Matheson moved for indefinite postponement of the measure, but his motion lost, 38 to 42.

The bill not only would abolish the retirement system but would provide for the refunding of all moneys paid into it by members thereof excepting annuities, benefits and refunds.

ENGROSS MILLAR BILL

The Millar bill providing for the establishment of a perpetual fund to be known as the "public education memorial fund" for half of the moneys paid into the state treasury pursuant to the inheritance tax laws was engrossed by the assembly Friday 64 to 8. The action came after the assembly had upon motion of Assemblyman Duncan of Milwaukee, reconsidered its vote last week by which it refused engrossment.

The fund would be augmented by the addition of approximately $1,000,000 annually. The fund would remain intact and the interest thereon would be applied to school maintenance. It is the design of proponents of the measure to have the fund reach such proportions in time that the interest would be sufficient to finance the school system and thus abolish school taxes.

As originally drawn, the bill provided that all inheritance tax moneys should be paid into the fund. Under a substitute amendment by Assemblyman Duncan of Milwaukee, which was adopted, the amount was reduced to one half.

The assembly killed, 50 to 19, the senate joint resolution by Gary and Schumann providing for the appointment of a joint legislative committee to study economic conditions of farmers and make recommendations for improvement thereof.

WIND DIES DOWN

By Associated Press
Superior—Fires burning in the timbered lands of northern Minnesota which for the past two weeks have threatened several small towns of the region are now under control. It was stated on advice reaching here Friday that a decrease in velocity of the wind which has swept the burning areas has resulted in the effective checking of the fires, the report said.

VILLAGE THREATENED

Mellen—Cooper Falls one of the beauty spots of Wisconsin, is threatened by forest fires which are raging on both sides of it. Deputy game and fire wardens reported Friday.

The town of Huiley is out of danger but much standing timber has been destroyed especially in swamps where pitch and balsam and spruce seemed to make the fire a furnace that ate every thing in its path.

Women May Form Branch
Of Society

Madison—The United Commercial Travelers of Wisconsin meeting here Friday picked Appleton as their 1924 convention city.

Delegates were considering the advisability of organizing a women's auxiliary to the travelers association. Solomon Levitan, addressing the convention Friday, declared that the state is faced by a period of prosperity. "I know that you are told by others that business is to be ruined by new tax laws," he said, "but as a man with over 40 years of business experience in Wisconsin, I want you to know that every sign is an indication of prosperity, and that nearly every piece of legislation which is being enacted in Wisconsin this year shows that the trend of taxes is downward, not upward."

Appleton travelers began their fight for the 1924 convention at the 1922 meeting in Fond du Lac. Madison had previously been promised the convention for 1923 but Appleton delegates were assured that they would be given first consideration when the place for holding the 1924 meeting was to be selected.

PRIEST SHOTS BOY WHO ROBS POOR BOX

Youngster, Caught In The Act, Shot, While Trying To Escape From Church

By Associated Press
Detroit—Rev. Father Michael G. Esper, pastor of St. Boniface Catholic church early Friday, shot and slightly wounded Harold Smith, 14, of Sudbury, Wis., as the boy made a dash for liberty after, it is alleged, he was caught in the act of robbing poor boxes in the church.

The priest, he told the police, was awakened by the ringing of a bell so arranged that it will sound if any one enters the church during the night. The priest took a revolver and entered the church, where he says he found the lad with two poor boxes in his hands.

He was conducting the lad from the church to the parish house when the youth made a break for freedom. When Harold refused to halt, the latter fired three shots one of them grazing the lad's arm and knocking him down. "The boy was turned over to the police."

Harold told the officers he and his brother John, 19, came here a few days ago, and were seeking money with which to buy food. John said by his younger brother to have been acting as lookout during the alleged attempted robbery, escaped.

The priest told officers he did not intend to shoot the boy, declaring he merely was attempting to bring him to a halt.

Curzon Joins
In Denouncing Grave Robbers

By Associated Press
London—Marquis Curzon, the foreign secretary, has added his voice to the protest against the search at Gravesend for the bones of the Indian Princess Pocahontas. Addressing a meeting of the society for the protection of ancient buildings Thursday night, he announced the destruction of works of art in the past and asserted that reverence for ancient buildings was an admirable sentiment. He said that it was indeed almost a religious cult, and added:

"But there is one form of this cult that seems to be antiquarianism run mad—the modern craze for taking up the remains of the dead."

Lord Curzon after mentioning several instances in point including the excavation at King Tut-ankhamen's tomb for which he thought there was too much excitement, declared that the historical results obtained, referred to Pocahontas. He said he had just read a "lot of Ghouls gathered around the site of her interment where they are finding a heap of skulls and bones while men of science are actually sitting by to discover whether among this pile of debris they can find a skull with some black hair on it."

"In our passion for antiquity," the foreign secretary added, "let us at least spare the dead."

Inasmuch as the permission of Home Secretary Bridgeman was necessary before the search at Gravesend became possible, it is believed that Lord Curzon's comment will not escape remark.

Payment was refused because of a technicality.

PREPARING AMENDMENTS

Finance Committee Wants Upper House To Settle Taxation Problem

By Associated Press
Madison—The changes of passage for the finance committee tax bill appeared to be less Friday with announcement by Senator George F. Staudenmayer whose vote is needed for enactment of the measure, that no revenue bill will pass the senate that does not bear the brand of Governor Blaine. He declared that there is not a "show" for the committee bill to get through the upper house.

Should this situation develop all four tax measures now pending in the legislature would face defeat in the senate. Just what would develop then senators are unwilling to say since the governor has specifically declared that he would refuse to sign the large appropriation bills for educational purposes unless a revenue measure is enacted into law. Both Senator Anton Kuckuk and Senator Herman Eitzen are preparing amendments to the finance committee bill, which will be offered, they say, when that measure comes up for consideration next Wednesday. Unless rules are suspended the introduction of these substitutes will throw over consideration for at least two days.

Senator Henry Hubbs, chairman of the finance committee, said Friday that he wanted the senate to "go to the mat" on the tax issue without further delay. He said that he is prepared to have the issue fought out and determined one way or the other.

By Associated Press

They are constitutional or not, the mines companies of St. Louis-St. Paul and the Duluth and Iron Range companies, one of the largest mining companies in the world, are in form of a protest which accompanied checks for tax assessments totaling an aggregate of $5,739,245.

BIG LOT OF SEIZED
BOOZE DISAPPEARS

$14,000 Worth of Confiscated Liquor Missed From Government Warehouse

By Associated Press
Chicago—Prohibition officials Friday were attempting to check the mysterious disappearance of $14,000 worth of confiscated liquor from a government warehouse while agents of the internal revenue department continued their investigation into what they say hide fast to be Chicago's largest rum scandal.

A report of the missing whiskey was made after a conference between federal judge James H. Wilcox and department heads of the local prohibition force. Judge Wilcox was said to have admonished the dry agents to "get down to business" in finding that within a few days, he will enter an order taking the custody of all seized liquor from the prohibition force.

This formed the latest angle in the already complicated mass of booze irregularities, in which hush and attempted bribery of prohibition officials and agents figure most prominently.

FACE FINE AND PEN
FOR DODGING TAXES

Dubuque, Ia.—A. A. and W. F. Cooper, national known vehicle manufacturers Friday, faced possible prison terms and heavy fines for evading federal income taxes. They were convicted by a jury in United States district court here Thursday night on a conspiracy indictment charging that they submitted fraudulent returns for three successive years beginning in 1919. The trial, which lasted almost a month, was regarded as one of the most important cases of its nature prosecuted by the government.

WATER POWER BILL
MISLEADS FARMERS

Madison—Farmers are being misled by advocates of the Eber water power bill who hold out promises of cheap electric service on farms if the states go into the electrical business, declared G. C. Neff, Madison, chairman of the rural lines committee of the National Electric Light association.

Mr. Neff in elaborating on his remarks made before the legislative committee said that electric service will revolutionize farm work and farm life just as it has revolutionized city life only that the process will be slower due to the high cost of distributing electricity to the farms.

Right now, he said, farmers are saving from 20 to 50 per cent of their electric time and a minimum of $200 a year by using electric service.

"This bill only holds back electric service from the farms," said Mr. Neff. "Instead of decreasing costs it will surely increase them. The belief of some advocates of this bill that the cost of electric service depends largely upon the cost of generating electricity is entirely wrong."

GRADUATION OF 32 PUPILS OCCURS IN 3RD DISTRICT

Washington School Pupils Give Talks And Present Music
And Dances

When 32 students were graduated from the Washington school on Thursday evening the number of graduates from the Third District was brought up to 69 for the year. A large crowd attended the exercises in which all the graduates took part. A committee of the Parents association with Mrs. George Thomas as chairman had charge of the seating of the audience while former graduates of the school assisted as ushers.

The usual exercises were related by musical numbers by class and school organizations and by folk dances by the girls of the sixth and seventh grades of the school, who were taught the dances by Miss Martha Chandler of Appleton Womens club and Miss Laura Rogers of the Washington school.

URGES "ELECTRIC WAY"
Kenneth Breitung gave the salutary carrying the idea of "The Electric Way" even further than did Charles Dudley Warner. The young man brought to the attention of the audience the fact that even in high-grade commencement program is of some import and significance to a nation when one million boys and girls are graduating from eighth grade this June.

A little sketch called "Getting at the Truth" gave the views of a dozen boys and girls on vocational guidance. The sketch was a clever take off on the way vocational guidance specialists purport to find the right place for every man. The boys and girls showed the ridiculous degree of many of the decisions made by these men. Verna Parson followed the sketch with a poem on guidance entitled "Nature's Way."

GIVE WILSON TALKS
Walter Damkoehler and Melvin Henzl gave two addresses from Wisconsin. The former gave the first inaugural and the latter his address to 4,000 newly naturalized citizens at Philadelphia three days after the sinking of the Lusitania. Four members of the class gave scenes from a story by Roberts which illustrated pioneer life. Another group gave "American Ideals" in series of numbers while still another group presented a skit on the life of those who have abundant means and nothing to do.

Several other numbers were given on the program during the evening. Lloyd Lockin gave the valedictory which he had written himself. The program was completed with the presentation by Dr. M. H. Small of the diplomas to the following students: Lucile Altenhofen, Eunice Bauran, Orvel Sauran, Pearl Boldt, Kenneth Breitung, Lavila Cloos, Walter Damkoehler, Raymond Dumke, Naomi Donath, Olive Ellefson, Jone Feavel, Cecelia Fischer, Agnes Fowler, Melvin Henzl, Nolan Hoffman, Floyd Hoh, Arletta Holcomb, Frank Hopkins, Grace Kenyon, Bernice Kloss, Harold Kloss, Lloyd Lockin, Arthur Nickasch, Franklin Post, Lauretta Radder, Desmond Schaefer, Alvin Schlinke, Mabel Schroeder, Dorothy Stark, Grace Trentlage.

Famous General May Visit City

Rainbow Veterans Are Encouraged
In Their Attempts To Include Valley In Itinerary Of General Gouraud

Efforts of the local subchapter of the Rainbow division world war veterans to bring the French commander, General Gouraud, to Appleton in connection with his tour of the United States are being met with great encouragement.

A telegram was sent to Col. "Wild Bill" Donovan at Buffalo, N. Y., asking him to lend his aid in having the distinguished French general include Milwaukee, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Appleton in his itinerary following his appearance at the national convention of Rainbow veterans in Indianapolis in July.

A reply has since been received by Secretary John E. Hantschel from Col. Donovan announcing that he will do all in his power to satisfy the wishes of the Appleton veterans. Col. Donovan was in charge of the brigade to which Appleton Co. A of the 150th Machine Gun battalion was attached.

Local Rainbow veterans asked that Milwaukee, Oshkosh, and Fond du Lac be included in order to make Gen. Gouraud's compliance more certain. They are planning to make the general's visit here one of the most auspicious events in the military history of the Fox River valley. Appleton Chamber of Commerce has been asked to lend its help in arranging an appropriate program.

"We ask that you stand with us, even as we stood with you in the summer and fall of 1918," is the appeal of the local former service men to Gen. Gouraud.

"Gen. Gouraud was one of the great generals in the World war and contributed probably as much toward its victory as any other man," said L. Hugo Keller, who is on the committee appointed to secure the distinguished man's visit. "He was in charge of the third army which which the Rainbow division was attached. He lost an arm in one of the principal battles, and has received nearly every war decoration that can be given. It was his strategy of defense largely that broke the fifth and greatest German drive which began on July 4, 1918."

Gustave Keller left Friday on a Canadian trip which will include Toronto, Ottawa, and Montreal.

Attorney John Morgan is in Chicago on business.
E. H. Tandy of Minneapolis is spending the weekend with Appleton friends.
Mrs. Catherine Willson of Milwaukee visited friends in Appleton Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Conway have moved from their apartments in Conway hotel to their summer home at Lake Winnebago.

DELIGHTFUL PLAY IS PRESENTED BY GRADUATE PUPILS

First Ward School Presents
Closing Exercises At Lawrence Chapel

One of the prettiest entertainments which has ever been given at Lawrence Memorial chapel took place there on Thursday evening when the commencement program of the First ward school was given. The order of commencement events was changed in the program and the presentation of the diplomas was one of the first things to take place. The presentation speech was made by Paul V. Cary.

The operetta was preceded by the class songs and several dance numbers. The Misses Dorothy and Virginia Cord, danced the "Southern Sweet heart" and delighted their audience with it while Miriam Aylesworth, Doris Brinkley, Helen Cohen, Delores Cleveland, Jean DeBauer and Elsie Kull danced the spring song. Miss DeBauer also danced a solo dance between acts of the operetta.

"The Stolen Flower Queen" was dedicated to Luther Burbank by the authors, Grant-Schaefer and is written around the fact that the weed king has stolen the flower queen and made her prisoner. Grace French was the flower queen while her sister, Kenneth Bushy as Johnny Jump, a Puck-like fellow, was the clown of the evening. His singing and his lines always brought forth a burst of amusement from the audience.

INSTRUCTOR IN MUSIC
Miss Hazel Smith was the director of the operetta and may well be proud of its success. The songs by the children were cleverly done and the color effects and staging were excellent. Each group of youngsters did its part well as it returned from a futile search for the queen, who was finally found by boy scouts.

Near Accident
An automobile accident was narrowly averted at 6 o'clock Thursday evening at the corner of College and Superior. The corner was congested with automobiles when a young man came down the avenue with a Ford car at high speed and plunged into the congestion dodging first one automobile and then another and finally came out without a scratch and without a collision. Pedestrians held their breath.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Michaels and son Norman have gone to Stanley for a several days' visit with friends.

ASK YOUR NEIGHBOR

There is hardly a neighborhood in the United States where women cannot be found who have derived benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly fifty years this famous medicine has been overcoming some of the worst forms of female ill. As one woman has been benefited by its use she has told others who have used it with the same good results, so the use of this great medicine has spread from shore to shore by the recommendation of those who have found it good. Therefore ask your neighbor, let her tell you from experience the benefit which all young women derive from its use. adv.

VANDALS STEAL CHERISHED FLAG

Banner More Than 30 Years Old Taken From Schueler
Clothing Store

What to the superficial observer might seem to be some hyperzealous patriot removed the flag in front of Edward G. Schueler's men's furnishings store on College ave. Memorial day evening and has failed to return it.

Mr. Schueler is inclined to believe that it was a prank of some young men. The loss of this flag is felt more keenly by the family than if it had been an ordinary flag. The flag had been the property of Mrs. Schueler's family as early as 30 years ago. It was made of wool and the stripes were sewed together. It was about 8 by 10 feet in size. At the time this flag was made there were considerably fewer stars in the blue field than there are now.

Lively bidding took place at the auction conducted by William Philip, deputy United States marshal of this district, at Kuntz taxicab garage to sell two cars confiscated by the government for illegal transportation of liquor.

A Sterling truck, owned by J. R. Faavel, which had previously been used by his son-in-law, John Smith, for transportation of beer, was purchased by Smith himself for $430. Bidding started at $40 and at the end the contest was between Smith and a milk dealer.

A Ford touring car, used by Arthur Schmidt, route 4, Black Creek, for transporting liquor at a carnival at Appleton last summer, was sold for $140 to Joseph Schmidt, 1510 Vliet-st., Milwaukee.

LABOR ITSELF IS GUARDING AGAINST INFLATED WAGES

Babson Sees Healthy Attitude — Urges Effort To Speed Production

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Roger Babson states that there is nothing for business men to fear in the present reported demands of labor. "A few months ago I was disturbed at the attitude of labor—especially labor in the building trades," says Mr. Babson. "Wages had only been partially adjusted, following the abnormally high wages during the war, when the 'business boosters' turned the tide and prevented any further adjustments. This was unfortunate for all concerned. I say for 'all' because when the readjustment in wages stopped, the reduction in the cost of living also stopped."

GAIN NOTHING

"Wage workers gain nothing by simply getting more money in their pay envelopes when it is offset by higher living costs. They can gain permanently only by producing more goods. Wage workers are enjoying better living conditions today largely because of improved machinery, better management and the reduced cost of manufacturing. What labor needs is a readjustment in the cost of living, in the terms of food, clothing and shelter. This can never be brought about by raising plasterers to ten dollars per day. The higher wages are in the building trades, the higher rents are, and no one—but the tax collector—gains anything thru the rise in wages. This has been the situation during the past few months."

"There is today, however, a change for the better in the attitude of labor," says Mr. Babson. "This has been very evident during the past two weeks. Labor leaders are now better posted in the fundamentals of economics than they used to be. The labor leaders see the dangers of getting into another inflation of wages and prices before the present era of business readjustment is completed."

INFLATION INCOMPLETE

"Today the inflation of 1918-1920 has only been 60 per cent deflated. The wisest labor leaders see this and are putting on the brakes. They themselves are glad to see some of the proposed building programs suspended. Yes, the labor situation looks much better today than it has for many months. There should be no more radical advance in wages until the remaining 40 per cent of the deflation is eliminated and until we are again in a permanent period of prosperity."

"This means that business men should make no further wage advances except to even up and equalize certain departments. Employees should quit competing with one another for wage workers. Employees should seek to procure more, in order to get more in food, clothing and shelter for their weekly wages. This was the attitude of all during 1921 and 1922; but during the first four months of this year, many employers and wage workers lost their heads. This is one reason for the recent temporary stock market slump. But both employers and wage workers have again come to their senses. At least labor conditions in most sections and most industries are better today than they have been during the past four months."

"In the meantime business is still holding up at 5 per cent above normal as indicated in the Babsonchart and the man who is doing a legitimate business—without speculating in either stocks or commodities—has nothing to fear."

DRILL FAR FOR WATER AT ST. MARY CEMETERY

Trenching for waterpipes at St. Mary cemetery is well under way. The drillers of the new artesian well are down more than 250 feet and there is indication they will have to go between 300 and 400 feet before they strike a sufficient flow of water. The water is to be forced to all parts of the cemetery. Work will not be commenced on the new building until after the well is completed.

COUNTY'S BLIND AIDED BY STATE

In their investigation of blind cases in the county Mrs. Belle Cantrovitz of the state bureau for the blind, and John E. Hantschel, county clerk, found 38 families that are deserving of state and county aid. The inspection was made on Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. The maximum compensation to be granted to blind persons is $150. Some of them are on the rehabilitation list. An especially needy case was found in a family in Bear Creek, where the father of a large family is not only blind but also suffering from diabetes. As an emergency measure, the allotment of state aid was turned over to the family immediately.

RAINBOW VETERANS PLAN FISHING TRIP

Rainbow division war veterans will have to be out early Sunday morning to accompany the crowd on its fishing trip to Lake Winnebago. Eighteen automobiles have been secured to take members of the local chapter to the "scene of action." About 40 men have indicated their intention to make the trip. A fish fry will be served in the open air. Cars will leave Army-G at 5 o'clock.

WILL LET PEOPLE SUPPLY SERMONS

Unique Services On "The Family" Will Be Held At Presbyterian Church

A special series of Sunday evening services will be begun Sunday at Memorial Presbyterian church, according to an announcement by the Rev. F. W. Wright. The novel feature of the series is the "sermons by the pew" on the topic, "The Family." Members of the congregation write to the pastor on what is to be expected of a wife, husband, father, mother, son, daughter, brother and sister. The subjects are as follows: June 3, "What Makes a Good Husband? What Makes a Good Father?" June 10, "Perfect and Imperfect Wives. Mother's Virtues and Faults." June 17, "The Marks of a Good Son. Those of a Fine Brother." June 24, "The Graces and Blessings of an Ideal Daughter and Sister." Special music will be provided the first night by a trio of wives, the second by some husbands, the third night by young women and the last night by young men.

Dandelion Is Elevated To Esthetic Plane

More dandelion bouquets were picked this year than ever before. The faster they were picked the thicker they grew, much to the joy of all enemies of the Volstead act. There was a time when this dainty, beautiful blossom was disdained by persons of esthetic tastes, and its plant was hated by all tillers of the soil. Now they grow and flourish unmolested, but the blossoms are prized by many. It is a matter for prohibition statisticians to estimate just how many dandelion wine recipes were exchanged during the present season. In some localities the sewers have been overtaxed by the large quantities of dandelion mash emptied into them.

DISADVANTAGES OF THE FARMER
Several United States senators, many state governors and the heads of agricultural associations have issued a call for a wheat conference in Chicago, June 19th and 20th, to devise means to cause increased consumption of wheat. The call directs attention to the disparity between the low prices which farmers receive for their products and the high prices which they must pay for what they buy.
High agricultural operating and high living costs in this country are contrasted with low costs in other countries. The farmers need not only a market; they must have a profitable market. The object now under consideration is, therefore, to induce our own public to use more wheat.

Nobody can dispute the fact, for it is a fact, that there is too great a disparity between prices the farmer receives and prices that he must pay. It is likewise a fact that the farmer needs a profitable market, and this means greater demand for his products.
The farmer's troubles are due to two principal causes. One is an unscientific tariff, which raises the prices of goods that he buys, and that does not operate to increase the price of what he has to sell. Neither the emergency nor the regular tariff bills enacted by the present administration has improved the condition of the farmer. The prices of the great staple products that the farmer raises are fixed in world, not American, markets. For this reason it is practically impossible to frame a tariff, which is primarily on manufactured products, that does not reflect itself in a tax on agriculture. The other prime cause of the farmer's difficulties is the financial prostration of Europe, a condition which reduces its buying power and with it the demand upon exporting countries.
The farmer can improve his condition by lending his support to those policies which will reduce his tariff tax and which will assist in the economic recovery of Europe. He can also improve his condition by the incorporation of modern business methods into his industry, chiefly through seeking better credit facilities, through cooperative buying and selling, through standardization of his products, and through other agencies that will tend to stabilize prices and give him a larger share of the selling price to the consumer.

SPIRITUAL PILGRIMAGE TO MONTICELLO
The Thomas Jefferson Memorial association has originated a unique device to obtain sufficient money to buy the home and grounds of the author of the Declaration of Independence. Every citizen, whether he be a Democrat or a Republican should contribute a few dimes or dollars to commemorate the greatness of the sage who championed personal liberty and decentralized government.
Jefferson's home, Monticello, stands amid the treetopped Virginia mountains at Charlottesville. It is a land of great natural solitude and majesty.
The memorial association is about to sell railroad mileage books to the public. The tickets are not good on any train, but purchasers are allowed to take a spiritual journey to Monticello. The cost of the memorial trip is one cent a mile, and you may buy as many spiritual miles as you wish.
Let Democrats and Republicans concede this one logical and patriotic conclusion.

sion. It is that republicanism lies between the doctrines of Hamilton and Jefferson, or, if you will, that the opposing extremes produce governmental equilibrium. All citizens should share in preserving the home of the fearless patriot who inscribed the ideals of American freedom.

INDUSTRIALISTS RETURNING TO REASON

Communist uprisings in the wake of dogged French and Belgian staying-power in the Ruhr have set the powerful industrialists of Germany to thinking seriously. The question it forces on them is whether to have revolution and socialism, or to ease up with profiteering and have peace and prosperity. As a result, the industrialists begin to realize that the German people and government cannot be their prey. The industrialists submit a plan to the Cuno administration to mortgage all land in Germany at half of the present gold value. The assessments will approximate 500,000,000 gold marks a year for 5 years, and thereafter 1,000,000,000 gold marks annually.

The industrialists offer to pay sixty per cent of the tax, with the balance resting on banking, trade and agriculture. Thus are the reparations to be paid. Of course, the plan is theoretical, in the main. Yet, it is the nucleus from which a thorough scheme may be developed. Best of all, it shows that the efforts are being made at last to bring about a financial adjustment in Europe and gives promise of substantial results.

Economically and politically, Germany is in a sorry plight. Unless some sane solution of her difficulties is soon found, it is not unlikely that rebellion will break out, for the people cannot long endure the sufferings imposed on them by sordid industrialists and tolerated by a procrastinating government.

AFTER THEY DIE

Speaking of Abraham Lincoln, one of the leading New York newspapers said editorially in its issue of May 19, 1860: "The Republican convention at Chicago has nominated Abraham Lincoln of Illinois for president of the United States—a third-rate western lawyer, poorer than poor Pierce. The conduct of the Republican party in this matter is a remarkable indication of a small intellect growing smaller. They passed over Seward, Chase and Banks, who are statesmen and able men, and they take a fourth-rate lecturer who cannot speak good grammar and who, to raise the wind, delivers his hackneyed, illiterate compositions at $200 apiece. Our readers will recollect that this peripatetic politician visited New York two or three months ago on his financial tour, when, in return for the most unmitigated trash, interlarded with coarse and clumsy jokes, filled his empty pockets with dollars coined out of republican fanaticism."

Five days later a leading Philadelphia newspaper said of Lincoln: "There is not in all the history of his life any exhibition of intellectual ability and attainment fitting him for the high and responsible post for which he has been nominated. His coarse language, his illiterate style and his vulgar and vituperative personality in debate contrast very strongly with the elegance and classical oratory of the eminent senator of New York."

In wilder moments some of the leading papers and political haranguers called Lincoln a "freak," a "baboon who had escaped from the morasses of Illinois," a "vulgar clown" and a "low-bred village politician."

Lincoln, when he ran for the presidency, stood perhaps more ridicule and slander than any political candidate in our history. However, he looms greater and greater with the passing of the years. His greatness lives on while most of the newspapers that vituperated him have died of dry rot.

You contrast Lincoln's standing in history with the things they said about him when he was alive. There never was a better illustration that the importance and historical worth of a man cannot be judged by the generation in which he lives.

It takes death and the perspective of time to "place" him properly. Most of the prominent people who rank highly now will be gone and forgotten within half a century. And the ones who survive time's sifting process and emerge truly great will be, in many cases, individuals who are underrated today.

The ultimate position of Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt in history, for instance, will not be known for at least fifty years.

CHRONIC LEAD POISONING
Relying to a query in this column March 3, I said that chronic lead poisoning may occur from drinking hot or cold water delivered through lead pipe, and that iron pipe should be used to deliver water for drinking purposes.
The chief chemist of a lead company writes me in reference to the item that most of the water service connections in the city of New York, for instance, are of lead, and if my opinion that lead poisoning may occur from such a source is correct most of the people in New York would now be suffering with lead poisoning.
The advantages claimed for lead pipe over iron or brass pipe are, first, the ease of installing lead pipe, which is easily bent around corners where iron or brass pipe requires special fittings, and second, less danger from the inside of the pipe than occurs in iron or brass pipe, therefore, lead pipe does not require such frequent renewal to prevent obstruction of the flow.

Well, no doubt mild chronic lead poisoning is much more common than is generally known. The effects of mild chronic lead poisoning are so protean that even a good doctor is easily deceived, and no New York doctor will deny that he is good. The possibility of chronic lead poisoning from the regular drinking of water of any kind which flows through lead pipe is undebatable. All authorities on sanitation and hygiene teach that lead pipe should not be used for carrying drinking water.
Just to give a general idea of the variety of effects of mild chronic lead poisoning the following may be noted:

Anemia, headache, high blood pressure, bad taste in mouth, neuritis, colic or cramp, obstinate constipation, wrist drop, face palsy, arteriosclerosis, chronic nephritis (Bright's disease), mental aberration, enlargement of the heart, in some instances a state difficult to distinguish from locomotor ataxia and, according to Sir Thomas Oliver, it is not unusual to obtain a positive Wassermann reaction in chronic lead poisoning. The presence of a faint bluish line on the edges of the gums next the teeth has been noticed in many cases of chronic lead poisoning, but this is absent in nearly as many unquestionable cases.

The diagnosis of lead poisoning is a difficult problem for the doctor. Many mild cases pass unrecognized because the possibility of lead poisoning does not occur to patient or physician.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Children And Worms

Why not give your opinion some time about children and worms?—Mrs. F. W. T.
Answer—I will. Children are a great institution and everybody should have them around the house. Worms come in handy when one is going fishing and I do believe they do something to improve the soil, but when they get mixed with children it is a matter for the family doctor and not for along distance health expert.

Atrocity Contemplated
Our little boy aged 4 years lisp. The family doctor told us he is not tongue tied, but another doctor informs us that he is tongue tied and that his tongue ought to be clipped. In case this were done would it cure his lisp?—Mrs. W. R. P.
Answer—The term "tongue tied" is figurative like "foul mouthed" and "cold hearted," and should not be taken literally. Your family doctor was right.

Too Much Salt
Does common table salt have any injurious effect on the system when used in much more than ordinary quantities?—S. J.
Answer—Yes, an excess of salt tends to cause accumulation of excess weight, not flesh but too much water retained in the tissues, a flabby condition.

Candy Eating
Very fond of candy and eat a great deal of it. Will it cause diabetes?—D. B.
Answer—Overeating, particularly of carbohydrates (the starches and sugars), which is the usual fault of the diet, is probably a factor of diabetes. If you get sufficient exercise every day you are not likely to suffer any injury from your candy eating, but if you neglect daily exercise, it is easy to overindulge in such food. A pretty certain sign, though not the only sign, of overeating is overweight.

Capital All Decked Out For Shriners

BY HARRY B. HUNT

Washington—Washington is an American city no longer.

From the dignified and sedate capital of the world's greatest democracy it has been transformed into a giddy ditty oriental Babel, outdoing in gaudy tappings and rioting colors the brilliance and splendors of ancient Mecca, Medina and Bagdad.

For the week of June 3 the White House ceases to be the executive mansion, residence of President Warren Gamaliel Harding. It becomes, instead, the royal seraglio, palace of Noble Gamaliel Harding, high potentate of Aladdin Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Pennsylvania avenue, historic thoroughfare down which our presidential ride to the inaugural, is "Pennsylvania avenue no longer. It has become "They Road to Mecca," along which will trudge some hundreds of thousands of Shrine pilgrims.

LaFayette Park, fronting the White House, becomes the "Garden of Allah," outdoing Maxfield Parrish's vivid imagination in its madley of colors and with its quiet atmosphere shrouded by the weird synopsations of pulsing desert music.

The whole city and all its normal life has been turned topsy-turvy to make a gala week for the national Shriners' convention, which is expected to bring at least 500,000 visitors to town.

Maybe there is something more than mere Shriner loyalty in this decking out Washington as the modern Mecca this year. Possibly, they're trying to make up to Fellow Noble Warren the pomp and pageantry that was withheld at the time he was inaugurated president back in 1921.

Maybe you remember how Congress, feeling that the country would not approve large expenditures at that time for an inaugural pageant, voted down the appropriations for display and ceremony.

But whatever was withheld at that time is to be made up now, with interest. Never was the city so "lit up" for any inaugural as it is for the Shriners' convlave. Never were such elaborate stands erected in front of the White House, never such brilliant and costly effects staged. The whole picture is costing somebody well up to $500,000.

But think of what 500,000 Shriners will spend when they get to town! And the prestige of having Fellow Shriner Noble Harding, with his red and gold fez, in the reviewing stand!

Thousands of multi-colored electric lights, electric-jeweled scimitars, crescents and stars everywhere. Red, green, yellow, and blue banners and hunting by the mile. Music blaring from amplifier horns on high posts every hundred feet from the Capitol to Washington Circle, two miles away. Gilded towers and minarets cornering the Garden of Allah. Turkish trousers and Arabian fezzes.

Oriental! Well, that's what Washington ain't nothing else but!

Speaking of fezzes naturally makes one think of fizzes.

Roy Haynes, prohibition commissioner, who is a Shriner, has volunteered to save visitors during Shrine week from annoyance by bootleggers. He is bringing in a bunch of his best agents to help make the capital safe for Shriners. However, it is whispered that the best brains

Fix Deadline For Gipsy Moth

From American Forestry.

A deadline is to be drawn against that nomadic Hun, the gipsy moth. The state of New York has just appropriated $150,000 to be used to stop the invading hosts, which have been moving westward at the rate of 25 or 30 miles a year. A battle line extending from some point on Long Island sound, northward to the Canadian border and thence westward, if necessary, to Lake Ontario, is to be thrown up. This line will be almost 450 miles in length and about 30 miles in width. It will be a "no moth land," across which the gipsy ravagers shall not be allowed to pass.

Few people outside of New England, where it is now generally distributed, appreciate the destruction of trees wrought by the gipsy moth. Already it has cost the country more than $20,000,000 for control work alone. In 1921 Massachusetts spent for control work more than $336,000. It has been estimated that if the gipsy moth should be permitted to become general throughout New York it would cost $5,250,000 annually. The gipsy moth is the enemy of forests, old and young. With it abroad, it is practically impossible to grow many of the most valuable trees to timber sale.

Twenty-six per cent of the red oak trees in certain areas of Massachusetts have been killed by the moth during the last 10 years. On Cape Cod 90 per cent of the oaks, representing 75 per cent of the forests, are either dead or in various stages of destruction. New York's control line, it is said, will be the largest immune zone in the history of forestry, and on its success depends the future of many forests, not only in New York, but in Pennsylvania and other adjoining states. In recognition of this fact, the national government is throwing the full weight of the federal moth-fighting forces into co-operation with New York.

Q. Has Harold Lloyd, the movie actor, an artificial hand?
A. G.

Q. Harold Lloyd lost his thumb and forefinger and part of his hand while he was posing for some new comic pictures. He had a real bomb in his hand which the property man had given him through error, and it exploded.

Q. How did the continents get their names?
A. The origin of the name Asia is obscure. It is believed to have originated among the Greeks, or to have been borrowed by them from some Asiatic people. Modern scholars associated the name with the Sanskrit word Ushas, meaning dawn. The word Europa is from the Assyrian Irib or Ireh meaning sunset or west. Australia is derived from the Latin Australis, meaning southern. The name was suggested in the middle of the nineteenth century by Matthew Flinders in his book "Voyage of Terra Australis." The derivation of the word Africa is uncertain. It is believed to be of Phoenician origin, being first applied to the neighborhood by Carthage. The name America is derived from the name of the Italian explorer, Amerigo Vespucci. It was first proposed by Waldseemüller, a teacher of geography in the College of St. Die, in the treatise called "Cosmographie," published in 1507.

Q. What is meant by the statement that railroad rates are fixed on a basis of "what the traffic will bear"?
A. Z.

A. Fixing railroad rates at what the traffic will bear means the establishment of tariffs at the point which will yield the largest revenue in the long run and tend to encourage the greatest possible development of traffic in the future.

Q. How big is Alsace-Lorraine? W. J. W.

A. Alsace-Lorraine from north to south is 123 miles. Its breadth varies from 25 to 105 miles; its area is 5,550 miles.

Q. Is the moon brighter in the first quarter or third quarters? J. E.

A. The casual observer would probably notice no difference in brightness between the first and third quarter, but measures by Stebbins and Brown with a selenium cell indicate that the moon is brighter at the first quarter. A glance at the full moon shows that there are more dark areas on the eastern than on the western half.

Q. Certain theories are said to be fundamental in the Declaration of Independence. What are they? F. M. S.

A. The five fundamental theories of the Declaration are: the doctrine of equality—"all men are created equal"; the doctrine of inalienable rights; that the origin of government in a conscious act or compact—"governments are instituted by the right to throw off government, that is, the right of revolution or resistance.

Auburn Hair Wins Her Place In "Follies"

Red hair and personality has brought to one of Appleton's young women a chance to become a member of the Ziegfeld Follies. Miss Madge Herrick, daughter of Dr. Charles Herrick and Mrs. E. M. Herrick was offered the position in the Follies by Florenz Ziegfeld himself when he was in Milwaukee with his production "Sally" recently.

Miss Herrick had been given a letter of introduction to James Darling, stage director for Ziegfeld, by a mutual friend. It was when Miss Herrick presented her letter to Mr. Darling, that the director of the Follies was attracted by her lovely auburn hair and inquired about her. She was given a chance to play in the Follies at that time. At present, the former Appleton young woman is under a doctor's care in Milwaukee and upon his decision as to the state of her health depends her theatrical future.

While waiting to recuperate from an asthmatic condition with which she has suffered for years, Miss Herrick is studying to dance in Milwaukee. Last year only 24 girls were picked for the Follies out of 1,700 who applied for places. Miss Herrick attributes her offer to the fact that Mr. Ziegfeld has always been fond of auburn hair. If her physician thinks her health will permit the strenuous work which the offer means, the young actress will leave Milwaukee in August for New York.

ENLARGE EDISON PLANT TO MEET CABINET DEMAND

Buildings Are Altered Without Stopping Machines—Box Factory Built

Special To Post-Crescent.
New London—Wisconsin Cabinet and Panel Company of New London is showing progressive strides in the production of Edison Phonograph cabinets. Orders on the books now require full production for the balance of 1923, and new orders are continually coming through the mails. The introduction of modern machinery and methods and the enlargement of many departments during the past year, have made it possible to break all previous production records.
Linderman joiners, sanders and saws of modern types, automatic stockers, etc., are being installed to further increase the heavy production already demanded.
Building improvements also are being made. Only recently, a large box factory 112x72 feet was completed. The entire sanding building is being remodeled to keep pace with the other departments. Alteration of the sanding building is being performed while the machines are operating. One of the floor was raised three feet, while the machines never ceased to turn out their work. The additions planned as soon as the sanding building is completed are a new veneer cutting building and a new tempering shed 180x70, for lumber. All of the construction work is performed by the company's own maintenance department.
The plant is now organized to compete successfully with any of the large eastern plants manufacturing Edison phonograph cabinets. With modern machinery and buildings, and low operating costs, it is safe to say that the plant will be compelled to maintain its present high rate of production for some time to come.

KAUKAUNA NEWS

VISITORS WATCH KAUKAUNA ROTARY RECEIVE CHARTER

Eight Clubs Send Representatives To Thursday Night Program

Kaukauna—"We will serve not only alone but with others and will transmit to society not only not less but greater than it was transmitted to us."
With those words, William F. Ashe, president, pledged himself and all charter members of Kaukauna Rotary club at the charter night meeting, Thursday evening in the Coffee Cup dining room before about 150 Rotarians from eight cities in the vicinity. Presentation of the Rotary charter to the local club, the address of the evening by William Wagner of Sturgeon Bay and a charge to the club from the Tenth district governor, A. O. Olmsted of Green Bay, followed a banquet at 6:45. Leo C. Rasey, Appleton, was toastmaster.
Perfection in the work to be accomplished, nobility and service were the chief points brought out by Mr. Wagner in his presentation address. Mr. Wagner declared that all men should prepare themselves in their vocations to be capable of handling his end of the task in the most efficient manner. He cited the Biblical story of David and the giant of Gath and showed how David had prepared himself and perfected his ability to use a sling without any thought of a time when his knowledge would be tested.
ROTARY IS ESTABLISHED
"We as individuals can do little for Rotary," said the speaker. "Its place is already established in the nation and the world. It was only yesterday while listening to a Memorial day address in Sturgeon Bay that the exact meaning of the words in Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg address became clear: 'We cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate this ground, the brave men who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract.' We do not build monuments to honor the dead so much as we build them as a place for those who live to regain their patriotism and enthusiasm after they have allowed it to ebb."
"The weekly meetings and conferences of Rotary are much the same," continued Mr. Wagner. "When the spirit and enthusiasm of Rotary has dimmed in the individual his place is at Rotary gatherings where the spark in him may become rekindled."
In his charge to the Kaukauna Rotary club, Governor Olmsted impressed upon the Kaukauna men that to select the best official timber and then back up the leader to the utmost is the most important item in the success of new clubs. He warned the new club to keep its enthusiasm within bounds and to start nothing that cannot or will not be finished. As he presented the gavel to President Ashe the governor warned him not to become a blacksmith but to use the hammer only when necessary.
CHAIN OF CLUBS
The local club marks another link in a huge chain of Rotary clubs, flanked on either side by other strong clubs beginning at Menominee, Mich., and extending to Kenosha, Mr. Olmsted said. Only one more city south of here is needed to complete the chain and when a club is organized there, which is expected soon, plans will be made for a celebration such as has never been attempted. Mr. Olmsted also remarked that individual success of Rotary will increase the status of the club while at the same time affords businessmen within the organization will cause a reflection upon it.
Leo C. Rasey, toastmaster, extended best wishes to the local club and said that although Appleton was responsible for organization here it was little credit for the Rotary spirit had been awakened and there was a keen desire for it even before Appleton members began their work. He introduced Mr. Ashe and Menley P. Mitchell, secretary of the Electric City club, as two of the foremost Kaukauna Rotarians.
Several quartet selections were rendered by the Lawrence College glee club quartet, a piano solo was given by La Vahn Maesch and music during the banquet and for community singing was furnished by members of the Electric City orchestra.
Speakers who represented various clubs and extended their best wishes were Dr. E. H. Brooks, Appleton; Frank McGee, Two Rivers; William Castle, Oshkosh; Dewitt Reiss, Sheboygan; H. V. Joannes, Green Bay; Ellis Chier, New London; Robert Markham, Manitowish; James Spalbury, Sturgeon Bay. A telegram from Fond du Lac was read.

HEROIC DEAD HAVE NOT DIED IN VAIN, ASHE SAYS IN TALK

Give All You Can For Your Country, Memorial Day Speaker Advises

Kaukauna—Respectful of race, nationality or creed, the best that can be done is to give all for the good of the nation in which one claims his home, was the chief thought emphasized by William Ashe in his Memorial day address at the Soldiers' monument on Lawest, Wednesday following the visit to the city's cemeteries. Due to the activities in Appleton in the afternoon at which Kaukauna service men were present and because of the delay in getting started on the trip to the various cemeteries, the address was very short.
As the graves of soldiers were being decorated and the dead honored and as services were held on this bridge, Mr. Ashe said that only one thought seemed to rise on each occasion: "These are our bodies which were broken for you. This do ye as often as ye do it in remembrance of us."
"After every war people raise the question 'Have the dead been killed in vain?' All wars in which our country has taken part have been for a principle involved and not for selfish reasons. With such a motive for war none have died in vain."

Piles

Can't Be Cured from the Outside External treatments seldom cure Piles.
Nor do surgical operations.
The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.
The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.
To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.
J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Schintz Bros. Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. adv.

Fruit Crop Hampered If Trees Are Sprayed When Blossoms Are In Full

Pollination By Bees Is Needed To Increase Yield—Pests Are Not Reached By Spray Poisons When Tree Is Abloom

By W. F. WINSEY

A number of farmers in this vicinity are making the serious blunder of spraying their fruit while in full flower and are, therefore, doing more damage with the untimely poison than would the pests they are trying to destroy if left unmolested.

Circular 168, extension service, University of Wisconsin, Madison, gives this order a prominent place in its pages: "Never spray when trees are in full bloom." There must be a reason for that order.

The blossom is a short lived decoration of the fruit tree which nature, perhaps, sets up at a critical time of the year on tiny storehouses of honey as an attraction to passing bees needed in the processes of fertilization and reproduction by the tree. In the case of apple, cherry and plum trees cross fertilization is necessary and bees are delegated to perform that service. They are attracted by the gay colors flaunted in their flight by flowers and paid for their aberrations from the honey bags concealed at the base of the blossoms. The bees struggling to remove the treasures become transporters of pollen—the vital element in fruit reproduction. Without the pollen and the distributing agency of bees, there could be but few apples, if any, cherries and plums. Poison dashed on the blossoms kills the bees and seals the doom of the fruit crop.

POISON MAY HARM

"Never spray when trees are in full bloom," says another authority. The reason given for the order by the author is that the blossoms cover the tree as a canopy. Most of the poison lands on the petals which soon wither and fall carrying the poison with them out of reach of the bacteria it was intended to destroy.

Spray your trees by all means because without spraying you can't raise fruit and with spraying there is practically no limit to fruit production. But if you do spray, spray when the pollen will not kill the bees which aid necessary fertilization and when the fluid will stay on the tree and will rid it of injurious pests.

To show the value of bees in orcharding and farming, H. F. Wilson says in the May issue of Wisconsin Horticulture: "In the province of Ontario, Canada, where large areas of alfalfa clover are grown for seed purposes, the farmers are glad to provide space for beekeepers for their apiaries. In nearly every large greenhouse where cucumbers are grown, bees are used to pollinate the flowers."

BEES VALUABLE

"In the state of Washington, a few years ago, orchardists were renting colonies of bees at five dollars per colony to fertilize their apple crop.

"In L. D. Stilson's orchard, Nebraska where he had some bees, he noticed that the fruit formed, most of it was on trees in the immediate vicinity of the apiary or in the line of flight of the bees on sunny days following a rain. With cherries, he had 14 consecutive crops while others without bees missed 3 to 5 crops. Mr. Stilson also mentioned that E. Whitcomb of Friend, Nebraska, produced 300 bushels of cherries, while orchards equally as good but out of the line of flight produced none.

"When tents containing colonies of bees were placed over 50,000 plum and prune blossoms for the California experiment station, A. H. Hendrickson noticed that the trees under tents provided with bees set about 19 per cent while the normal set in the field was about 4 per cent."

Another authority says that when red clover was introduced in Australia, no clover seed could be produced because tame bees do not work red clover fields and no bumble bees were there to do their usual work of collecting honey and distributing pollen. So the introduction of red clover made the introduction of bumble bees necessary for the service of pollination.

Bees perform an inestimable service to farmers and fruit and vegetable growers in the fertilization of blossoms and making them productive and for this reason, if not for their honey production, they should be not only protected from poisonous sprays but propagated more generally.

It is a serious blunder to spray fruit and vegetable blossoms when bees are at work since in doing so we save the insects, all prospect of a crop. The time to do effective spraying is before or after the blossoming period and the time that bees are doing their work.

Motorists themselves draw that distinction. In every community some men are "in the tire business," while others are recognized as the Goodrich Silvertown Cord Tire dealers. The name of Silvertown symbolizes a merchant who is alive, far-sighted, prepared to serve his customers in the best way.

To these merchants Silvertowns signify the greatest value possible in tires. They have selected them as their leader because they know the advantage of the Goodrich principle of one quality, one grade and one name.

MEMBERS APPROVE TRINITY PURCHASE BY WOMANS CLUB

First Payment On Church Building Is Authorized At Club Meeting

Appleton Women's club at a meeting at its clubhouse Thursday evening, acted upon the recommendation of the executive group of building committee and will purchase the parsonage and chapel of Trinity English Lutheran congregation at the corner of Main and Oneida streets.

Means of raising the funds necessary for the purchase was left in the hands of the building committee's financial group. There is ample money in the treasury of the club to meet the first payment required by the congregation.

Entire possession of the house will be given the club on Aug. 1 while possession of the chapel will be given with the provision that the congregation may use the chapel for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday services for 12 months after Aug. 1. Some changes in both buildings will be necessary in order to adapt them to club purposes. No great changes will be made in the chapel, however, until after it is no longer used for church purposes.

No plan for meeting the financial obligation of the club was presented at the meeting on Thursday evening but it is expected that the committee will make its plans within a short time. Mrs. Mabel Shannon is chairman and the committee includes Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Mrs. G. E. Buchanan, Mrs. J. E. Thomas, Mrs. J. J. Marshall, and Mrs. A. H. Wickesberg.

Plans for building a new and completely equipped building have been abandoned by the club for the present time since the purchase of the house and chapel has been decided upon. The present site will probably be used for a new building within a few years.

KNEW MUSSOLINI AS DITCH DIGGER

Michigan Farmer Recalls When Italian Leader Was Poor Socialist

By Associated Press
Ann Arbor, Mich.—If Benito Mussolini, Italian premier, has no more luck-to-liveness as a statesman than he once had as a ditch-digger, his eclipse is near.

Henry Albertini, owner of a small fruit farm on the outskirts of this city, said of the University of Michigan says so. And Albertini, a Swiss, knows all about Mussolini's ditch-digging ability.

For once he walked shoulder to shoulder with the present Fascist head at that loath vocation.

"That was in April of 1908," relates Albertini, "in Zurich, Switzerland."

"No one had ever heard of the present premier. He was one of those workmen, Socialists, out of jobs, broke and hungry."

"Leaving my companions one after noon I found a young man digging a base ment."

"The next morning we started work—Mussolini just as eagerly as any of us. In a day or so he began to soldier on the job."

His appetite had lost the tinge of hunger. He tried to discuss wages and how each of us could labor. He grew arrogant and domineering."

"Even then he evidenced an overdeveloped sense of vanity and his penchant for cop, in the post of Napoleon—one hand shoved in at the breast of his coat and the other crooked behind his back. Benito did more posing than work."

"Mussolini always has impressed me as being very much of an egotist."

"In 1911 he requested I get him the commission to translate into Italian a history of the French revolution written by Prince Peter Kropotkin, the Russian anarchist. I secured the commission for him."

"Up to this time Mussolini had attracted no attention. He was still a common workman. But this work led him into journalism and he quickly won a national reputation."

Mr. Lasker said that the offer had been officially classed as a "summer dream."

France And Russia Taking Big Strides In World Aviation

German Mechanics And Pilots Aid Red Government To Establish Commercial And Military Air Lines

By Associated Press
New York.—Soviet Russia has begun the development of a great commercial and military aircraft program and occupies an important position in the international race for supremacy in the air, according to the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce which has made public its annual survey of aviation throughout the world.

The report covering flying activities in 54 countries finds France the leader of all nations in both commercial and military aviation and still working on heavy programs. The survey of the Russian activity how ever is of unusual interest.

USING VARIOUS PLANES

Russia is using German French and Dutch airplanes. Special aviation schools have been established at Toula, Moscow, Smolensk, Kharkov, Pella, Ekaterinograd, Minsk and Petrograd. The council of commissars has voted to obtain 300 new airplanes for the Red army. It is reported that, however, that 100 planes have been bought from Italy. In four cities the government has established domestic aircraft factories. The program for the year is fully to equip 70 fighting squadrons.

"In all, the Soviet government's program calls for 5,000 airplanes with spare parts. With the assistance of German aeronautical experts plans have been made for exploiting vast territories. Great trunk lines have been charted. It is proposed to have in operation by 1925 many thousands of aircraft. German pilots are expected to join the commercial Russian aviators on the commercial lines."

FRANCE IN LEAD

France in developing the colonial air defense operates a passenger and mail service three times weekly between Algiers and Biskra, another between Oran in Western Algeria and Casablanca on the west coast of Morocco twice weekly. During the first eleven months in 1922 the French built 3,300 airplanes for military and commercial purposes and let orders for 1,200 additional machines. The French program for 1923 calls for 220 air squadrons with 100 machines in a squadron or 200 planes, with 100 per cent reserves. French air appropriations were greater in 1922 than all nations combined, aggregating $55,591,755.

"In 1922 all the French air lines operating to Africa. London, Brussels, Amsterdam, Tunis, Constantinople, Genoa and other points. In all, 13 distinct air lines, flew a total of 2,146,324 miles, carried 14,797 passengers, 1,165,216 pounds of parcels and 90,589 pounds of mail. It is planned to link all possessions from Indo-China to Guiana, through Africa and the Red Sea within two years. Aviation is being taught in the schools and colleges and a completely equipped French mission is making a tour of the world and giving demonstrations in Europe, Asia, Africa and South America."

BRITAIN TO FORE

"Great Britain has centralized her aviation in the Air Ministry. Her Royal Air Force numbers 3,000 of fighters and 26,500 enlisted men. There are 33 squadrons—31 of them in the colonies, the Near East and India, and 12 in the British Isles. The Air Ministry employs 1,332 civilians. Approximately $54,000,000 is being spent for aviation including $11,000,000 for construction and $2,000,000 for civilian aviation. The estimates for the next fiscal year approximate $84,000,000.

"In Italy Premier Mussolini recently placed the air service on a par with the army and navy. Several new squadrons are being organized, and many projects for operating semi-governmental airship service have been begun. Approximately $5,000,000 is being spent for new construction."

In 1922 Japan appropriated $11,304,875 for naval aviation, of which $1,556,924 is being spent for construction of new planes. About $16,000,000 is being spent on military aviation, a fourth of it for new equipment. The government is providing subsidies and liberal rewards for civilian aviation."

GERMAN AVIATION PROGRESSING

"German aviation, though handicapped by the treaty terms, is progressing. German engineers are active, and manufacturers of aircraft are building machines in Switzerland, Italy and Russia and possibly in Finland and the Scandinavian countries. In addition they are most active in Asia, Soviet Russia, and certain South American republics. The German government in 1922 appropriated 22,000,000 millions marks in subsidies for German commercial air lines. The Hamburg American and North German Lloyd lines are interested in several aerial projects, including both planes and airships. There are five other aerial operating companies. For many months they have been operating between Germany, Russia and the Baltic states, and Switzerland.

"Other countries which have relatively extensive aerial programs this year include Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Canada (and all other countries in the British Commonwealth), Chile, China, Colombia, Cuba, Denmark, Holland, Ecuador, Estonia, Finland, Honduras, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Mexico, Norway, Paraguay, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Russia, Siam, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, Uruguay and Venezuela.

"Mexico is spending $1,495,500 on her air service and while the government has purchased a number of planes in the United States, it is planned to buy 200 machines in Europe during the year.

"Spain learned a lesson in the Moroccan campaign, and since then has provided a market for all European constructions. In addition to active expansion of military aviation, daily air services are being operated. A transatlantic airship service is projected to be supported financially by the government."

BE PREPARED WHEN YOU START TRIPS

Car Should Be In First Class Mechanical Condition For Long Journey

"The touring season will soon be here and the great joy of motorists will be to travel far and wide. In case you are about to embark upon an auto trip of any length be sure that you are 'all set' before you go," says Mr. Schneider of the Appleton Auto Co.

"First of all, be sure your car is mechanically right. We do not mean that your car should have a general overhauling before starting; but if there have been any little noticeable (not imaginary) irregularities existing, consult a good mechanic.

"Don't judge the condition of your car by the mileage it has covered. The number of miles registered on the speedometer of some cars may be near the five hundred century mark, yet the car may be in a far better mechanical condition than some showing 50 or 20 per cent less.

"Careful and systematic lubrication is always necessary, but be sure your car is well lubricated before starting on your trip. Be guided in the lubrication of your car by the lubricating chart in your instruction book. Don't overlook a single point of lubrication shown on the chart. It appears to be common practice to lubricate what seems to be the most important places, ignoring the balance. You might get by with this during town or short distance driving, but by no means take chances when touring. You cannot tell what might happen if a brake shaft should stick or a steering connecting rod join dry.

"The old saying, 'If a job is worth doing, it is worth doing well,' surely applies in the lubrication of your car. 'Tires are usually the bugbear of an extended auto trip. Your car should be equipped with the best tires in your possession, the poorer tires to be used as spares. Keep your tires inflated, according to the recommendations of the manufacturers.

"It would not be possible even to suggest what should be taken, other than to be sure your tool and tire repair kits are complete, also include tire chains, mud and snow blocks that can be easily applied, since the average auto jack is made small and compact for ease in storing and the base is too small to be of much use in sand or soft roads. We recommend a hardwood block, one and a half inches thick and six or eight inches square, to prevent the jack from sinking when attempting to raise the car. It may be found necessary to dig down into the soft road a little for placing the block if the jack does not go under the axle as would happen with a flat tire."

"Tires are usually the bugbear of an extended auto trip. Your car should be equipped with the best tires in your possession, the poorer tires to be used as spares. Keep your tires inflated, according to the recommendations of the manufacturers.

GREAT DEMAND FOR FORDSON TRACTORS

Both agriculture and industry are making increasing demands for the Fordson tractor.

While the use of the Fordson as a farm implement is extending in every agricultural section of the country as farmers come to realize the advantages and economy of power farming, a most noticeable feature of the sales is the growing use of this sturdy and dependable power plant in industrial and commercial activities.

Contractors and builders are everywhere adapting the Fordson to meet their needs for power, either moveable or stationary, and road engineers throughout the country are specifying its use with highway construction machinery.

To meet this growing demand for Fordson Tractors production is now at capacity and for the first three months of the year reached a total of 27,087 as compared with 5,340 for the same period a year ago.

TELLS OWNER HOW MUCH IT WILL COST

How much is it going to cost? This is the first question people ask when they find some part of their electrical equipment needs repairing.

For this reason Mr. Schroeder, of the Appleton Battery and Ignition Service, local Willard Service Station has adopted a flat rate system for repairs on starting motors, generators and the entire electrical equipment of the car.

Under this system the car owner knows just what the repairs will cost, which does away with any dissatisfaction after the job is completed.

This system has been used for some time in the larger cities, with splendid results. It has done much in putting the cost of electrical repairs on a reasonable basis to the car owner.

GIVES ADVICE HOW TO AVOID TROUBLE

Motor Expert At Buick Garage Tells How To Prepare For Trips

Many tourists have their trips spoiled by motor troubles that can be avoided if proper preparations are made. A motor expert at the Central Motor Company submitted what seems to be a solution for most of these troubles. Although it applies directly to Buicks it can be made to apply on all cars.

1—Consult your reference book for information relating to the proper lubrication of the car and care of the cooling system and battery.

2—See that the battery is fully charged and all wire connections including the battery ground strap and properly tightened.

3—Lubricate the starting mechanism spark and throttle linkage, generator, pump shaft front bearing, fan, valve stems, rocker arms and lifters. Drain old oil from the crank case and put in two or three quarts of light motor oil. Remove spark plugs and pour a tablespoon of oil through each hole. Remove pipe plug from top of timing gear case, pour in one pint of motor oil and replace plug.

By means of the starter turn the engine over for about one minute then drain the crank case and refill with fresh medium motor oil. Clean, adjust and replace spark plugs.

4—Drain carburetor, vacuum tank and gas tank. Remove plug from top of vacuum tank and pour in about one pint of fresh gasoline to wash out sediment. Pour a quart of fresh gasoline into gas tank, leaving drain plug open to flush out sediment. Close drains on gas tank and vacuum tank and pour about one quart of gasoline into the vacuum tank and refill main gas tank.

5—Fill radiator within three inches of the top with solution of one pound of washing soda dissolved in five gallons of water. Start motor on idling speed and allow cooling system to drain from radiator and pump. Refill with fresh water twice and allow to drain off before finally closing drains and filling with fresh water.

6—Lubricate all points on chassis as directed in the reference book and lubrication chart. Wash out transmission and differential with kerosene and refill with 800-W.

7—Inspect brakes, steering, toe-in and possible looseness of front wheels.

8—Tighten spring clip nuts, body bolts, windshield nuts and all other nuts which may be loose. Look over all sheet metal fastenings for loose or missing nuts and screws inasmuch as squeaks and rattles are caused by these conditions.

MILLION MILES IS CADILLAC RECORD

Detroit Man Claims His Machine Has Traveled Some In Its Day

Can a motor car run a million miles?

James Hutton of Detroit claims that his Cadillac—a one-cylinder 1904 model—has actually covered that mileage.

This fact was brought to light in the recent celebration of the Cadillac Motor Car Company's commemoration of the 25th birthday anniversary of Cadillac, founder of Detroit and names-giver of the Cadillac car. Mr. Hutton's car led the parade of Cadillac cars preceding the celebration.

Greater faith in his car has no man than Mr. Hutton. "I honestly believe it will run as long as there is ground in front of it," he comments. "I don't think it will ever wear out."

The car has been in Mr. Hutton's possession since 1910. He has no definite figures as to the mileage during the six years previous to his ownership, but estimates it at about 300,000 miles.

For the past 12 years it has served in the dual role of delivery car and power to operate a carpet cleaning machine. Mr. Hutton estimates the motor runs on an average of 300 miles a day when operating the vacuum outfit. It can easily be figured up what this would amount to in a year.

Mr. Hutton points that wear and tear on the mechanism, particularly the transmission, is greater when the car stands still with the motor in operation than when the car is running. Since 1910 he has had the transmission replaced once.

sean with a portable desk so that he can do a considerable part of his work in whatever congenial out-of-door surroundings his fancy may suggest during the warm months. For his further convenience he has also arranged a bed which extends between the front and rear seats, affording the comfort of home and greater portability than the most nomadic Pullman. The Tower family in general seem to be well convinced that Chevrolet transportation is desirable, for two other members also drive Chevrolets. One brother of the instructor has a Superior Sedan and another brother is driving his second Chevrolet touring car.

Occupation of Constantinople between April, 1915, and March 1923, cost England $100,000,000.

Falling out of trains in England causes an average of about 30 accidents a year.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER"

Shows How to Locate and Correct any Automobile Engine Trouble

By E. H. SCOTT

This is the eighth of a series of specially prepared and illustrated articles showing the ordinary automobile driver how to locate any engine trouble

When the Engine Misfires at Low Speeds Only or Will Not Run Slowly When Idling

And Ignition, Plugs and Valves Have Been Tested as Shown in Articles Six and Seven

NOTE—If the engine is COLD, let it run for five minutes to warm up thoroughly. Most engines will misfire a little in cold weather until they are warmed up. If the engine IS warmed up, and runs as above then—

Examine the Carburetor—

If Gasoline is leaking BADLY from it, see A.

If Gasoline is NOT leaking from it, see B.

1. Grasp the Float Valve and raise it up and down, allowing the gasoline to flush out the seat, giving it a half turn back and forth as you do so. If the leaking STILL continues then—

2. Hold the Float Valve firmly on its seat, and GENTLY tap it with a small hammer or the end of a wrench two or three times, giving it a half turn round each time as you do so. This will usually result in making a new seat. Be VERY CAREFUL you do not hit hard or you may bend the Valve. If the leaking STILL continues then—

3. Turn off the gasoline and take out the Float and Float Valve, to see if it is rough or badly ringed. If it is, it requires facing up, a job for the Service Station or the makers of the Carburetor. If the Valve and Valve Seat look all right then—

4. If the Float is a metal one, shake it to see if there is any gasoline inside. If there is it can be repaired by immersing it in very hot water until no more bubbles arise, noting the spot where they came from, then with a VERY SMALL soldering iron, apply just a tip of SOFT SOLDER. An iron too hot will open up the seams of the Float beyond repair, and too much solder will throw the Float out of balance. It is always better to buy a new Float than try to repair an old one, and above directions are given where this fault develops and it is impossible to procure a new Float.

If the Float is made of cork, see if it is not water soaked. It should be quite dry. If it is NOT, then dry out and give it two coats of thin shellac.

If both the Float and Float Valve appears to be all right, yet the Carburetor continues to flood, then—

5. The gasoline level in the Float Chamber is too high. It should stand approximately 1/32" from the top of the Jet. To test accurately and remedy this defect requires special knowledge of the Carburetor, so have this trouble remedied by the Carburetor Service Station.

1. Take out all Spark Plugs and examine the gaps to see they are set correctly. They should be just a trifle LESS than the thickness of a WORN DIME. If they are all right then—

2. Test the Joints on the Intake Manifold by flowing a little gasoline around them, noticing if it makes the engine run any faster when you flow the gasoline around the joint. If it DOES, tighten the nuts on the flange and test again. If joints STILL leak, fit new gaskets. If it makes NO difference then—

3. If you have an AIR VALVE on the Carburetor, see that it is not sticking partly open all the time. If it is all right then—

4. Examine to see if there is any play in the small shaft that holds the throttle valve in position in the Carburetor. If there is, have Carburetor overhauled by Carburetor Service Station. If it shows no sign of being worn then—

5. Examine the Valve Guides to see that they are not worn too badly, so allowing air to be drawn in, making the mixture too weak at low speeds. If there is very much play, you will either have to fit new Valves with oversize stems, or new guides. If, however, the guides are all right then—

6. If you have a Low Speed Needle Valve or Jet, see that it is not blocked. To do this turn the adjustment OUT TWO TURNS, then with the Choker Button pulled out, and the throttle open just about two notches, turn the engine over as fast as possible about ten times. Now turn the adjustment back FOUR TURNS and start the engine. If it is no better then—

7. Remove the Muffler, then take it apart and clean it, or tap it all around with a wooden mallet, then fully retard the Spark lever and race the engine up a few times, when most of the loosened Carbon will be blown out. If this does not make any difference then—

8. Test the Low Speed Carburetor adjustment. First FULLY retard the Spark Lever and close the throttle lever as much as possible. Now turn in the Stop Screw on the carburetor throttle valve until the engine turns slowly, then turn the Low Speed-adjusting Screw in or out until the engine runs smoothly and evenly. If you find that it is impossible to get the engine to run slowly and evenly then—

SALES RECORD IN APRIL RUNS HIGH

Maxwell And Chalmers Concern Report Wonderful Increase In Trade

Detroit — Maxwell and Chalmers, which in their tremendous growth in the past two years have given automotive market experts cause to rank the advances made as forming one of the greatest achievements in motor car history, again hold the local business spotlight with the announcement by Arthur E. Barker, vice president of the companies, that April was the largest month Maxwell Chalmers has ever experienced, both in number of sales and in volume. The records of the present organization as well as its predecessors are surpassed in the sales figures for the month.

Mr. Barker stated that 8,587 cars were sold for the month representing

6-CYLINDER AUTO DEMAND GROWING

Representatives Of Velie Company Hold Conference At Moline

Automobile dealers from all over the United States gathered at Moline, Ill., this month in what might be termed a national conference on motor opinion. Men from the far west compared their analysis of that district's "motor mind" with representatives from the north south, east. Out of their discussions came a definite picture of the 1923 motor market in the United States.

"Public preference differs but little in various localities," says H. S. Lord, sales director of the Velie Motors Corporation, which arranged the convention of its representatives. "The increasing demand for a moderate-priced six-cylinder car is noted everywhere.

"Remarkable improvements have been made in the 'six' during the last few years. Velie's success in perfecting its line is regarded as the outstanding feature of this price class. Our dealers brought to the convention a complete and accurate digest of the desires that now guide car buyers in their selections. And checking these facts that Velie had matched, or exceeded every quality that is uppermost in the present day buyer's mind.

Eating meat on Wednesday, or driving on a Sunday, is still punishable in England.

NASH COUNTING ON HEAVY MAY SALES

Shipments For First Half Of Month From Kenosha Plant Total 3,016

May will be the largest month in the history of The Nash Motors company, providing production of Nash cars maintains its present pace for the balance of the month.

Shipments for the first half of May totaled 3,016 cars the production schedule for the month calling for 6,000 cars.

"Even with shipments for the month of 6,000 cars we will not meet the full demand," said E. H. McCarty, general sales manager of The Nash Motors company.

"As a matter of fact we have orders from dealers for nearly 2,000 cars in excess of the May production schedule. Demand for the Nash product has increased so rapidly that throughout the entire spring, each month has eclipsed all previous records in point of production and sales.

"In the first six months last year Nash Motors shipped practically as many cars as the entire calendar year of 1921 but our total shipments from January 1 to date greatly exceed our total shipments from January 1 to July 1, 1922. March of this year was the biggest month in the company's history up to that time; then along came April and shattered the March record and now May production will eclipse April and will outstrip May, 1922, which has stood as the company's largest month."

VETERAN WORKERS IN DORT FACTORY

Many Employees Have Been With Company For About 37 Years

The working forces of the Dort Motor Car company probably set a record for continuous employment that few automobile organizations can equal.

Many of the associates of J. Dallas Dort, president and founder of the concern which bears his name, have come up with him through the entire 37 years of the company's existence.

Mr. Dort is a firm believer in the theory that the attitude of the man toward his job makes or mars the quality of his work. The manufacturer may establish standards of accuracy, he may supply all known devices for determining and testing these factors; he may even apply the most rigid inspection, but fall short of his highest aim, if the men behind the machines are not loyal and conscientious or if they are not satisfied with their jobs.

Mr. Dort has always taken an active interest in the affairs of his employees. Years ago he founded and worked out the plan for the Flint Industrial Mutual association which is operated solely by workingmen from the various Flint factories and which is credited with being the most successful cooperative society ever organized.

RIDES 1915 HUP ACROSS COUNTRY

Intrepid Driver Starts Transcontinental Journey In Venerable Machine

Of the 50,000 motor cars expected to be driven across the continent this year in the annual pilgrimage of pleasure-seeking motorists, one of the first to start is a 1915 model.

The long trip from the southern Pacific coast to the northern Atlantic and return in a venerable Hupmobile and over good, indifferent and bad roads, holds no terrors for L. S. Howe, of Blythe, Calif., and his wife, who are now on their way from their home to Augusta, Maine, to visit relatives they have not seen for years. It is the first long vacation for Mr. Howe in 15 summers.

Before the Hupmobile started from California it had traveled 66,000 miles during the eight years Mr. Howe has had it.

Eastbound, the old Hupmobile is being driven over the "Sunkist Trail," through Phoenix, Ariz., and El Paso, Tex., then gradually northward as the car continues toward the Atlantic.

Mr. Howe is a strong booster for good roads and for his 1915 Hupmobile, which is being used as the official car of the Palo Verde Valley Chamber of Commerce in advertising the opportunities in that valley, and the value and convenience of the "Sunkist Trail" from El Paso to Los Angeles.

Local Pastor's Son Will Be Ordained To Ministry On Sunday

Public Is Invited To Services At Congregational Church When Stephen C. Peabody Is Examined And Made a Pastor

An outstanding religious event is to occur Sunday at the First Congregational church when Stephen C. Peabody, son of Dr. H. E. Peabody, pastor of the church, is to be ordained into the ministry. This is an auspicious occasion of a nature which occurs rarely in Appleton, and is expected to draw a large attendance. The public is invited to the gatherings in the afternoon and evening.

Dr. Peabody has called a council of churches of this locality and most of the cities in and near the Fox River valley will send their pastor and one delegate here. Dr. Theodore F. A. Madison, state Congregational superintendent, Dr. John W. Wilson, Appleton, district superintendent, and Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon college, also are expected here to take part in the ceremonies.

WILL BE EXAMINED

The council will meet at 4 o'clock in the afternoon to examine the young man as to his beliefs and fitness for the ministry. This procedure is open to the public and will give an interesting insight on what is required of a man who intends to become a minister.

Satisfactory passage of the examination will open the way for the formal ordination ceremony at 7:30 in the evening. The candidate will be pledged to the Congregational ministry by one of the speakers, another will deliver the charge to Mr. Peabody and the hearers and a third will preach the ordination sermon. Dr. Peabody, the pastor, has urged all members of the church to attend the services and especially the young people. He believes the procedure will be of more than usual interest.

Supper is to be served the visitors and officers of the church by the social committee of the church, of which Mrs. John H. Neller is chairman.

PREACH IN EAST

It is the intention of Mr. Peabody to accept a pastorate in New England for about a year and he then will take up missionary work in Peking, China.

Mr. Peabody was educated in the public schools of Hartford, Conn., and Chicago. He graduated in 1917 from Harvard university. His graduation occurred earlier than customary in order that he might enlist in the army during the World war which

German Speaker Coming

The speaker at the 3 o'clock and 7:30 service in Christian Assembly hall on Sunday will be Mr. Glat, who has recently come from Germany. He is a German Jew by birth and has a message for the members of the assembly and their friends.

At Death's Door

"Ten years of stomach trouble reduced me to a living skeleton. I had attacks of pain that doubled me up like a jack-knife and I was as yellow as a gold piece. No medicine or doctor helped me and I was really at death's door. A lodge brother advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I found it to be the only medicine to touch my case." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Sheboygan's battery of swatters blasted Appleton out of the league leadership last Sunday, according to official averages released on Friday.
Sheboygan now is topping the league with an average of .353 while Appleton sank into second place with a .331 average.

At the same time T. Lamers was driven out of his lead position in the league and Schultz, Fond du Lac, took his place. Schultz is slugging the ball at a .585 gait and Ted is trailing him with an average of .559 in 17 times at bat. Marty Lamers is smashing the pill at a clip of .438.
Up until Wednesday Brautigan and Sylvester, the reputed heavy sluggers of the local squad were tied as the weakest hitters on the team. Each boasted an average of .188. Wednesday, however, both men got out of the rut by blasting a number of hits.
Braun and Barzen of Sheboygan and pounded out two home runs apiece up

$100,000 LOSSES WHEN RACING STABLES BURN

By Associated Press
Cleveland, O.—Owners and trainers were checking up their stables Friday in an effort to learn if any of their horses were among the eight thousand burned in a fire which destroyed five barns at Maple Heights Race track near here late Thursday.

One of the dead animals is believed to be Finestale, but this could not be verified until several hours, which could not be located late Thursday night were rounded up Friday. They were among the hundred odd that were liberated when the fire was raging, and fled through woods and farms near the track.

The dead animals belonged to the stables of A. B. Aetman of Toledo, and J. A. Parsons of Cheyenne, Wyo.
The loss will run over $100,000, it is estimated.

WE FISHING AND HUNTING COLUMN

By M. J. V. Fose

Decorative day brought out a number of anglers. At Fremont, boats were at a premium early in the morning and those coming later than 5 A.
M. were surely out-of-luck and had to wait for them. The bridge across the Lathrop, O., river was lined with fishermen all after white bass.

Reporters say that the pike fishing at Lake Winnebago is better this year than it ever has been and there have been some good strings brought in by Ludtke, K.

Fishing back of the Neenah and Menasha dams is reported good and some good catches have been reported from that vicinity.

The black bass season doesn't open until June 15, so throw 'em back and let 'em grow to fight you again some other day.

BRAUTIGAN SEEKS PITCHERS FOR 2 WEEKEND BATTLES

Appleton Plays At Oshkosh Saturday And Fond Du Lac Comes Here Sunday

In a determined effort to bolster up the squad for the weekend games with Oshkosh and Fond du Lac Saturday and Sunday, the firm of Sylvester, Miller and Brautigan is scouring the countryside for an able pitcher. His-gins, of whom great things were expected, has proved more or less of a bust and the trio of baseball conductors realize that something must be done to put the team back in the running. The fact that two games were lost is not what is bothering them;
it is that the games were so poorly played. There were enough errors in the two games to last an ordinary team a whole season but the number of bulls is not so surprising when it is considered that the balls have been coming at the infielders like shots out of a gun.

An effort to line up Walter Kinney, former Green Bay, Fond du Lac and Philadelphia Athletics hurler, is being made. No answer has been received from the big fellow Friday morning, however. Logan, a Green Bay product, also is available if the team wants him.

HITTING STRENGTH
Appleton has great hitting strength, gathering enough hits off Smithson
last Sunday to win an ordinary game.
But the trouble was the flock of errors and the fact that Green Bay got more hits.

Saturday Brautigan will take his team to Oshkosh for the first meeting of the season with Fred Beebe's Sawdust City squad. The next day Walter Harris will bring his gang of Fond du Lac pennant chasers to Appleton. Fond du Lac found itself after a bad start and is going along at a pretty good clip now.

Brautigan it is reported, has read the riot act to his crew of ball chasers and threatened to purchase a supply of yellow paper if the team didn't shake itself out of its floundering trance. The trio of baseball bosses is determined to hook the flag for Appleton this year and not a thing will be left undone to accomplish this. The crying need now is a pitcher who can keep the enemy guessing at least once in a while so that the fielders have a chance.

Kinks o' the Links 65 "PRO"

Has Robert Jones ever won a national amateur championship?
Jones, while admitted to be one of the greatest amateur players in the country, has never held the amateur title. He was the runner-up at the Oakmont Country Club in 1919, and he has probably forgotten to win over Herron, but was beaten 3 and 4, in one of the biggest golf up-sets of the year.

In a four-ball match Smith, Jones and Brown are on the putting green.
Black is off the green, but closer to the cup than Smith and Jones. Who should play first, Black or one of the others?

In a four-ball match, balls belonging to the same side may be played in the order the side deems best.
Black may play first or his partner, and if they can't agree on who should play first, then the ball which by actual measurement is farthest from the hole, should be played first.

In match play, two players get on the green in three. After playing their third shot, a hard shover sets in that forces the players to seek shelter. After a delay of about 15 minutes, the rain subsides and players return to the green. As an aftermath of the rain the players discover a number of large worms on the green. It so happens that several worms are on a direct line between the cup and one of the player's ball. Has the player the right to brush them aside with his clubhead before making his putt?
The worms are regarded as a loose impediment, and while the player has the right to remove them, he must pick them up in so doing. In brushing aside the worms with his clubhead he would be touching the line of putt with his club, a breach of the rules, which would cause him
the loss of the hole.

Milwaukee—Pinks Mitchell retains the junior writers' 25th championship belt regardless of the outcome of his bout with Perry Leonard in Chicago

the Illinois contest was in question and because Leonard refused to weigh in before the contest. A. J.

Blue And White Track Stars Expect To Take Place In Little 5 Meet

Treize Has No Stars But Expects To Win Enough Firsts
And Seconds To Place Well
In Ripon Competition

Friday afternoon Coach Fred Treize will leave for Ripon with twenty-one picked men to compete in the Little Five conference track and field meet, which is to take place next Saturday. The men chosen to represent Lawrence at this meet are Cooke, Kotal, Grignon, Kubly, Smith, Kinney, Gibble, Clapp, Courtney, Lepley, Rucinski, Collins, Good, Winter, Landon, Rehbein, Purvis, Hunt, Larsen, Mals, Stoker. Four other Wisconsin colleges are sending track crews to this big event, and at least two of them are conceded to be stronger by far than the local one. Beloit has a crew of veteran track men who have had constant practice for at least a year, and have been entered in many events throughout the past season. In fact all of the colleges have this advantage over the Blue and White, as track and team work have been necessary to last a month ago. Ripon has two stars on its team who are difficult to beat in any event. They are Christopher and Ellison, two of the best center track men Wilson-sin has ever seen. Carroll and Northwestern do not boast of any particular champions such as these two,
but nevertheless, constant practice, and at least a year's experience have given these two schools a great handicap. In spite of all this, Coach Treize is figuring on taking second or third place. Smith has a good chance to win a first place in the discus throw having thrown the flattened sphere 141 ft. 7 in., tying the state record.
Grignon has come within four feet of tying the state record for the javelin throw with 167 ft. 4 in., and should therefore also be somewhere near the head of the line in his event.
Practically every other event scheduled for the meet should yield a second or third place for the Blue and White entrants. In Treize's opinion, and unless his calculations are far astray, he is confident that Lawrence will not disgrace herself at Ripon.

This will be the last meet in which the local college will participate this season, with the exception of the Pentathlon, which is scheduled to be staged at the Lawrence field next Tuesday.

The state meet is scheduled for Appleton next season, and the Midwest conference meet for Beloit. Meanwhile it will be to the advantage of the local school to inaugurate the necessary improvements on the grounds, which are in very bad shape. The football field also is in evil condition and will need a great deal of going over before next fall.

ROD AND REEL

TIPS ON THE DIXY FLY
Anyone who returns to his home backyard these days with a really good-sized trout, considering the weather, will run the gauntlet of suspicion unless he openly admits that he has either used worms or minnows for casting instead of flies. If he tries to spring the dope that the trout went loco over flies, it's a cinch that he has been wandering around a super-extraordinary trout stream where said trout have been educated like they educate pheasants in Europe—to fly in front of the gunning party who generally sit in easy chairs to shoot them.

We all know that the fly fisherman is in his glory during the month of June and later in the month of July, when the May flies, stone flies, duns, winged ants and myriads of other little flyers swarm around and across the streams and lakes but the fly dope does not ring true at this time, especially with the late spring hanging up a snow-fall record for future years to shoot at.

Those who have graduated into the dry-fly fishing game know that the only proper way to fish the fly on most waters is in a stream, working in to the water above the pools, boulders or bushes so that the cast may be made with a slight quartering of the stream, thus giving your fly a chance to float down stream with the current in a natural manner. Car must be taken in pulling the slack in so that the fly will not be drawn under the water by the weight of the trailing line, which, by the way, should not be allowed to trail. The cast must be made lightly and accurately into the hole where you believe the big fellow is waiting and the most important part of the whole game, especially in well-fished waters, is to travel as silently as possible. Do not raise the tip of the rod when casting as you do when tossing the wet fly on this little movement, no matter how slight, will generally pull the float under water and the dry fly effect will be entirely lost.

As the waters fall in the summer months the fly fishing becomes a real tough game as the streams that were full and rushing earlier in the season become attenuated and low. Then you will find trout hunting his regular hiding hole.

New York—The bout between Mike McTigue and George Carpalite scheduled for July 14, was postponed until August 11, at the request of Carpalite who recently injured one of his hands.

CUBS LOSE 3-2 AS LUQUE HURLS FIFTH WIN IN SIX STARTS

Reds Continue Winning Streak
In Third Straight Error-less Game

Cincinnati—The Reds continued their winning streak on Thursday by beating the Cubs, 3 to 2, in the first game of the series. Luque pitched well, scoring his fifth victory in six starts this season. The Reds scored a run in the first inning on an error by Duncan and hits by Duncan and Grantham and hits by Duncan and Robbie. Cheever then blanked them until the seventh, when a pass, a triple by Burns and a single by Duncan earned two runs. "It was the third straight errorless game for the locals. The score:
Chicago . . . . .0 1 0 0 0 0 1 0—2
Cincinnati . . . . .1 0 0 0 0 2 0—3
Batteries: Cheever, Osborne, and O'Farrell; Luque and Hargrave.

3 HOMERS FOR GIANTS
Philadelphia — Three home runs by Meusel, Groh and Kelly enabled New York to win the first game of the series from Philadelphia on Thursday.
4 to 1. These three blows accounted for all the Giant's rallies, one man being on base when Kelly hit for the circuit. Tierney the new second baseman made his first appearance on the home field. Score:
New York . . . . .2 0 0 0 0 0 1 1—4
Philadelphia . . . . .0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1—1
Batteries: Bentley and Snyder; Mitschell, Hubbell, and Wilson.

DOGGERS BEAT BRAVES 5-2
Boston—Grimes held Boston to five hits on Thursday and his batting helped materially in Brooklyn's 5 to 2 victory over the local club. In the ninth, with the score tied at two all, Grimes singled. He scored when Margard threw wild on Neis' sacrifice bunt. Johnston's double scored Neis and the former scored on successive sacrifices by Bailey and Wheat. The score:
Brooklyn . . . . .0 0 1 1 0 0 0 3—5
Boston . . . . .0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0—2 Batteries: Grimes and Taylor; Mar-quard and O'Neil.

ST. LOUIS POUNDS MEADOWS 4-1 St. Louis—St. Louis took the first game of the series with Pittsburg on Thursday, 4 to 1. The locals pounded Meadows for five hits in the fourth for three tallies. It was Meadows' first appearance against his former teammates in a Pittsburg uniform.
Pittsburg . . . . .0 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—1
St. Louis . . . . .0 0 0 3 1 0 0 0—4
Batteries: Meadows and Schmidt;

HOME PLAYERS OUT FOR FONDY'S SCALP

Appleton Amateurs In Fine Form To Invade Fond Du Lac Next Sunday

The Appleton Home Players will play the Fond du Lac team at Fond du Lac next Sunday, and not Menasha as was reported Thursday. Manager Joe Mayefsky has been putting his men through their paces every evening for the past week at Jones park, and announces that they are in better shape than ever before, and that he anticipates a good game with the Lake End boys on June 3. Weinkauf, who will hurl the pellet as usual, has limbered up so well that he can almost throw the ball around a corner.

The team will leave for Fondy Sunday noon, and all the players are to be ready to get in the cars at the public library at 12 o'clock sharp.

MITCHELLS, POOR SPORTS, DISRUPT CHICAGO BOXING

Disgraceful Scene At Ringside
Tuesday Night Puts End
To Game

Chicago — Mayor Dever clamped the lid down tight on Wednesday on future boxing matches. The riot which followed Tuesday night's bouts in the Dexter park pavilion marked the knockout blow for the revival of the sport. The mayor said the spectacle was a disgrace.

"Boxing is done for in Chicago until the legislature amends the present statute prohibiting matches," he added.
"I will have an announcement to make after my meeting with the chief of police connected with boxing are responsible for the situation. They killed the game in the past."

Chief of Police Collins said he would not permit bouts unless he is restrained by court injunctions.

MAY BAR MITCHELLS
The Chicago chapter of the National Sports Alliance announced it has taken steps to have the three Mitchell brothers, Richie, and Pinky, boxers, and Billy, manager, blamed for the riot, barred from all bouts in Illinois.
It also requested the New York chapter to take a similar action.

"It is too bad that Milwaukeeans had to come to Chicago and disrupt a clean sport," said Benny Leonard, whose knockout of Pinky Mitchell started the riot.

"It was no more than could be expected, for the same pair created a rumpus in New York when I knocked out Richie Mitchell at Miss Ann Morgan's benefit show for the poor children of France."

REDLEGS' SPURT BEARS OUT EARLY SEASON PREDICTION

Pat Moran's Crew Beginning To Find Itself With Coming Of Warm Weather

Chicago—Now comes Pat Moran and his Cincinnati Reds. The Reds aren't exactly emulating the Brooklyn Robins in their own league or the Philadelphia Athletics in the American since Cincinnati was pre-season rated as a likely combination, but having begun woefully weak the present spurt of the Reds is notable.

Bad weather aided other teams in keeping down the Reds but within the last week or so they seem to have found themselves. In winning their third straight victory over Chicago Thursday 3 to 2, Cincinnati advanced to fifth place, two points within St. Louis in secure notch in the first division.

Brooklyn kept on its winning form, trouncing Boston, 5 to 2, and keeping ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals who met Pittsburgh and won 4 to 1. The Brooklyn contest was notable for Marquard's effectiveness against Zach Wheat, leading National league batsman, who failed to hit for the first time in 21 games.

Jack Bentley, whose ineffectiveness at times has caused New York fans to question the wisdom of paying $65,000 for him to Baltimore, won his third game out of seven Thursday, beating the Philadelphia Quakers 4 to 1.

The Philadelphia Athletics were idle, but because of their double defeat of Memorial day, they slipped in to third place while Cleveland was trimming Chicago 5 to 4, through the timely hitting of Manager Tris Speaker.

The New York Yankees also took advantage of the Athletics' idleness and, advanced further into the league lead, trouncing Boston 8 to 1. Wally Pipp hit safely in his twenty first consecutive game. Detroit was unable to make up lost ground, losing to St. Louis 3 to 3, because of poor pitching.

Tris Speaker, manager of the Indians, smashed a homer into the right field bleachers, sending Charles Jamieson home in front of him. This blow put them out in front and enabled them to win the final game of the series from the White Sox.

Hervey McClellan since being given the regular assignment at short, is playing a whale of a game for the White Sox. Most every day he displays a bit of sensational fielding. He also hits the ball hard. In the final game with the Indians he poled three hits in five time up.

Ernie Johnson, former White Sox short stop, who was claimed by the Yankees by waiver, will be used in a utility role.

Burleigh Grimes of the Dodgers, in addition to holding the Braves to five hits, bagged two hits, one a triple, scoring two runs as his part in the victory.

Lee Meadows, former Cardinal hurler, made his first appearance in a Pirate uniform in St. Louis and was given a hot reception by his former team mates who won behind Fred Toney's great pitching.

Home runs were made by E. Meusel, Groh, and Kelly of the Giants Thursday. Jack Bentley, the Giant's high priced Baltimore star, struck his gait against the Phillies and let them down with five singles and only one run.

FISHING GOOD ON LAKES AND RIVER

Pike, pickerel, and white bass are the most common trophies brought back from the lakes and streams by local exponents of the art of Isaac Walton.

Lake Winnebago, Lake Winneconne, Lake Poygan, and the lower Wolf river seem to be the principal scenes of action. Trolling seems to have been productive of many "limits" on Lake Winnebago which is now yielding its spring and summer supply.

Thousands of white bass are being caught daily up the river. On the lakes there is plenty of good trolling for pike and pickerel and still fishers have had luck with perch.

ON THE SCREEN

"TRIFLING WOMEN" SCORES GREAT SUCCESS

One of the best photoplays of the season yet presented on the screen of the Elite Theatre is "Trifling Women," the Rex Ingram production, for Metro which was seen for the first time yesterday.

The remarkable young director, whose recent photoplays have lifted him to the front ranks of picture producers, has in his latest work maintained the high standard of his earlier photoplays. "Trifling Women" should enjoy widespread success wherever it is shown.

The story of "Trifling Women" was written and adapted by Mr. Ingram himself. It concerns a mysteriously fascinating siren, a crystal gazer—Zareba by name—who lures men on by her beauty. Father and son enter competition and friends conspire against each other for her love. An illicit affair between the woman and her young suitor is brought to a terrible end when her husband discovers them in the embrace of each other. They are imprisoned in the Sorcerer's Tower, a weird room to which they have been led by a vision which Zareba saw. It is here, too, that the wronged husband meets his end, when the desire for revenge has been satisfied.

Players seen in earlier Ingram photoplays have the leading roles in "Trifling Women." Lewis Stone, Barbara La Marr, Ramon Novarro and Edward Connelly, all in "The Prisoner of Zenda," have important parts in this picture. Others are Pomeroy Cannon, Hughie Mack and Gene Pouyet.

"Trifling Women" was photographed by John F. Seitz. The production manager was Starrett Ford.

Deal with the dealer who gives your motor the squarest deal

WHEN you see the sign of Wadham's True Gasoline on a garage, or service station, or curbside pump, you are looking at something besides a mere advertisement. You are looking at a proof of responsibility toward you and your motor. The sign means that this dealer has put himself squarely on the side of quality gasoline—that he has gone the limit to give a square deal to your motor.

Worth thinking about—this "square deal to your motor". Saying that "my car runs as well on any kind of gas" is not giving a square deal to your motor. Filling with coarse, slow-firing, cracked motor fuel is not giving a square deal to your motor. Exposing your lubricating oil to the constant weakening dilution of kerosene drippage is not giving a square deal to your motor.

Wadham's True Gasoline

Wherever you see the sign you can translate it into terms that are significant to your own car, your own pocket book, your own motoring comfort.

Every time you fill at a Wadham's pump, you insure your motor just so many more miles of safe running—safety from carbon-clinkered valves, safety from weakening and dilution of your lubricating oil by raw kerosene.

Every filling means economy—long-run economy as measured by conservation of motor health—and immediate economy that results from a thrifter mixture and greater mileage.

This page is a frank, earnest recommendation for the Wadham's dealer—a deserved recommendation. He merits your patronage because he rewards it with GREATER VALUE.

H. S. PUPILS ARE REWARDED FOR GOOD WORK

Class Day Exercises Open With Processional Of Student Body

Class day exercises for the class of 1923 of Appleton high school opened at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon on the main steps of the high school with a processional composed of the graduates. The class formed two lines and marched in two, one section leaving the building from the west door and the other from the east and meeting on the front steps under arches of blossoms carried by the first four couples of each line. As the couples passed under the steps under the arches they went to either side of the steps and there formed groups for singing of the class song.

Harry Hoelt, president of the senior class, presided at the exercises. He presented the class which is yearly passed from the president of the senior class to the president of the junior class to William Hornbeck. In his presentation talk he gave instructions to the junior class to use the grade to dig, to get down under the roots of things, to make the class of 1924 a credit to Appleton high school. In response William Hornbeck assured the senior class the grade would be used and that the 1924 class would be even better than the class of 1923.

READS PROPHECY

The class prophecy was read by Bessie Munger. A number of the graduates were told of their whereabouts and occupations several years hence. The author of the prophecy was quite ingenious.

Marjorie Neller presented the key which is supposed to open the door of knowledge to Annette Colvin to be used wisely by the junior class until it in turn is ready to pass it on. Miss Colvin promised in behalf of the junior class to guard the "key" and strive to uphold the standards of the school and the class of 1922.

The presentation of the awards followed, to those students who have done exceptional work in the various activities of the school. H. H. Helbe, on behalf of the Colonial Daughters of America, presented the medal offered to the winner of an essay contest open to freshmen only, to Elizabeth Mealing. This is the third year the medal has been given. The subjects of the essays must deal with some phase of American citizenship. Certificates of honorable mention were given to Bertha Greenberg, Mary Kreiss, Alfred Wickesburg, Eleanor Johnston and Josephine Arnold.

GIVEN $50 PRIZE

The American Association of University Women gives a sum of money yearly to a girl in the graduating class who has been an outstanding scholar, to assist in paying her college tuition. Miss Myrtle Hart presented $50 this year to Miss Dorothy Verrier. Miss Verrier completed high school in three years besides being active in many phases of school life.

Miss Hester Harper, faculty adviser for the Clarion, awarded "A's" to the students who have done excellent work on the staff of the publication during their senior year, or for two years of service. Those receiving A's for service during their senior year were Eleanor Tuttrup, Helen Diderich, Bessie Munger, Maurice Feerenboom and Gertrude Zuehlke. For two years' service on the staff, Almere Nehls, Gracie Hannagan, Cathryn Wolfe, Beverly Murphy, Francis McDonough, Marjorie Neller, Harlan Hackbert and Royal La Rose. Francis McDonough and Marjorie Neller have been the staff artists, Harlan Hackbert, editor, and Royal La Rose, business manager. Beverly Murphy will be the editor next year.

Mrs. Mary Marguerite Arens presented a $10 gold piece to Herbert Gauerke in behalf of the Daughters of the American Revolution for winning an essay contest sponsored yearly by the organization. The subject of the winning essay was "Radicalism

MAYOR ASKS U. C. T. TO CONVEVE HERE

Mayor Henry Reuter has added his invitation to those requesting that the United Commercial Travelers now in session in Madison, hold their 1924 state convention in Appleton. The following telegram was sent by the mayor to the convention:

"On behalf of the people of Appleton, I extend to you a cordial invitation to hold your 1924 convention in one of the finest cities of this great state, viz. Appleton. We are building two dandy bridges. Come and see them."

and Conservatism in American History." Honorable mention was made of the essays written by Annette Colvin, Frank Hoppe and Gene Cromwell.

SPEAKERS HONORED

A's for excellent work in the extemporaneous speaking contests were awarded by B. W. Wells. He presented Harry Hoelt, winner of the high school extemporaneous speaking contest with a book, "Platzer's Epitome of Universal History" as well as the A. Others receiving A's were Beverly Murphy, Helen Diderich and Maurice Lewis.

Principal Lee C. Rasey presented A's to the girls who have done exceptional work in physical education and along athletic lines. Members of the Girls Athletic shield, which is yearly presented to an outstanding student in scholarship, character, and excellence of work in school activities was presented this year by Mr. Rasey to Beverly Murphy. A's were given to those considered especially deserving next to Mr. Murphy. They were Richard Neller, Carl Engler, Edmond Dorr and Elizabeth Earle.

At the conclusion of the presentation of awards the sophomore class presented to the school a flag to be used next year on the flag staff. The program concluded with the singing of "Alma Mater."

SANATORIA HEADS MEET IN DE PERE

Treating Tuberculosis For Permanency Is Discussed At Conference

The midyear conference of sanatoria officials of Wisconsin took place Friday at Hickory Grove sanatorium at West DePere. The problem of getting the patient into the sanatorium and treating him so as to avoid the need of coming back once he has left was one of the big problems discussed. The conference was held under auspices of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

The speakers on the program included many of the leaders in the fight against tuberculosis in this state. It was expected that a large attendance of superintendents, nurses, trustees, physicians, and public health workers would be present. The sessions were held in the morning and afternoon with round table discussions at the luncheon time.

Fire in Rubbish Ignites Residence

Minor Damage Is Done At Home Of Mrs. George Maurer, Lawrence-st

Two fires broke out on Lawrence st. within close distance of each other on Thursday and Friday. Damage was incurred in only one of them.

A rubbish pile near the residence of Mrs. George Maurer 1063 Lawrence-st caught fire and ignited the side of the building. The flames crept up the siding to the windows of the second story causing damage of about $50. The timely arrival of the firemen saved the house from greater loss.

A smoking furnace in the home of Mrs. Cornelia Boyd 720 Lawrence st. alarmed the occupants, and a call was issued for the fire apparatus. No damage was done, however.

The exceedingly dry weather should be a warning to residents to be vigilant according to Nicholas Reider, assistant chief. Rubbish fires will kindle easily when broken glass in rubbish piles will act as a sun glass when the hot rays of the sun strike it.

LONG TIME REQUIRED FOR DRUNK TO SOBER UP

Louis Rush, having fully recovered from his spree which he indulged the evening before Memorial day, was arraigned before Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Friday morning and submitted to a fine of $1 plus $4.20 in costs.

He was placed in the county jail Thursday to sober up after having been arrested by Captain Patrick Vaughn and Patrolman Frank Johnson in a restaurant at 895 College-ave Tuesday evening.

NO RAIN; NO BERRIES, BELIEF OF FARMERS

The long delay of needed showers and the parched state of the soil are causing many farmers and gardeners to be worried about the outcome of their small fruit and gardens. Strawberries are particularly in need of rain. They have just about finished blossoming and the berries are about to set. If no rain is forthcoming soon, growers are inclined to believe there will be no strawberry crop this year.

The late J. P. Morgan once told somebody that the time would come when all business would have glass pockets. There's a world of thought—and truth—in the remark; a recognition of the fact that folks are getting over the quaint notion that there is something mysterious and secretive about the everyday matter of buying and selling things. Modern business has scrapped the antiquated delusion that every transaction is a matter of "bite or get bitten."

At this shop we are not interested in trying to sell our patrons meat that will not satisfy them, just to make a profit—but we believe that by selling them the best meat available, making a reasonable profit, and satisfying our customers is the one sure way of building a business.

Gray's hearty acceptance of the first and his prompt refusal of the second proposal pleased the speaker. "Bein' rich is mighty fine, but— Gus Briskow shook his head doubtfully. "It takes a lot of thinkin' and I ain't used to thinkin'. Some day, mebbe, I'll get you to give me a hand in fingerin' out some worries." "Business worries?" "No. I got enough of them, an' more comin', but it ain't that. Well, look at us! I reckon we've made you laugh. Oh, I bet we have! Ma an' me can stand it, but mister, I don't want folks to laugh at my children, and there's other things I don't want to happen to 'em. Buddy's a wild hock and he's got a streak of the Old Nick in him. And Albie ain't broke no better in him. I got a feelin' there may be trouble ahead, an'— sometimes I most wish I'd never had no oil in Texas."

CHAPTER VI
A SURPRISE FOR MALLOW

"Well, did you land them bucks?" It was Gray's driver speaking. "Through the gloom of early evening he was guiding his car back toward Ranger."

"Yes. And I made a good sale," the passenger declared. With pride he announced the size of the Briskow check.

A few miles farther on the fellow confessed: "I wasn't crazy about comin' for you tonight. Not after I got a flash at what's in that valise."

"No?" "You're takin' a chance, stranger."

"Nothing new about that," Gray remained unperturbed. His left arm was behind the driver, with it he clung right to the back of the seat as the car plunged and rolled. "Frequently we are in danger when we last suspect it. Now you, for instance."

"Me?" The man at the wheel shot a quick glance at his fare.

"Umph! These roads are a menace to life and limb; the country is infested with robbers."

"Oh, sure! That's what I had in mind. Joy-ridin' at night with a hatful of diamonds is my idea of a sucker's amusement. Of course, we won't get it."

"Of course! One never does."

"Sure! But if we should, there's just one thing to do."

"Indeed?" Gray was pleasantly inquisitive, but it was plain that he suffered no apprehensions. "And that is—"

"Sit tight and take your medicine."

"I never take medicine."

The chauffeur shrugged his shoulders. "Well, I do, when it's put down my throat. I been stuck up."

"Really?" "Twice. Tame as a house cat, me—both times. I s'pose I'll get nicked sometime."

"And you won't offer any resistance?"

"Not a one, cuh."

"I'm relieved to be assured of that."

For a second time the driver flashed a glance at his companion. It was a peculiar remark and voiced in a queer tone. "Yes, Why?"

"Because," Gray shifted his position, there was a movement of his right hand—the one farthest away from the man at the wheel—and simultaneously his left arm slipped from the back of the seat and lightly enfolded the latter's waist. He finished in a wholly unfamiliar voice: "Because, my good man, you are now held up for the third time, and it would distress me to have to kill you."

The driver uttered a loud grunt for something sharp and hard had been thrust deeply into that soft, sensitive region overlying his liver, and now it was held there. It was unnecessary for Gray to order the car stopped; its brakes squealed, it ceased its progress as abruptly as if its front wheels had fetched up against a stone wall.

Gray was grim, mocking; some violent, evil quality of his voice suggested extreme malignancy at full rock, like that of an unseen weapon the muzzle of which was buried beneath the driver's short ribs. "Ah! You go armed, I see. A shoulder holster, as I suspected. I knew you had robbing on this side." Seizing his victim's upstretched hand with his own left, he gave it a sudden fierce wrench that all but snapped the wrist, and at the same instant he reached across and snatched the concealed weapon from its resting place. He flung the chauffeur's body away from him; there was a sharp click as he swiftly jammed the barrel of the automatic back and let it fly into place.

The entire maneuver had been deftly executed. Even yet the object of the assault was speechless.

"Now then—the passenger, faced about in his seat and showed his teeth in a smile—"It is customary to permit the condemned to enjoy the last word. What have you to say for yourself?"

"If you think it's funny to jab a gun in a man's belly when he ain't lookin'—"

"A gun? My simple friend, you have—or had—the only gun in this party, and you may think whatever gods you worship that you didn't try to use it, for—I would have been rough with you. This is the last I used to stick you up!" With a deadly outthrust thumb Gray produced the driver in the side. "Simple, isn't it? And now chance for accidents." The speaker's shoulders were shaking.

"Well, I'll be damned!" "No doubt of it," chuckled the other. "Especially if you follow in the course you have chosen. And a similar fate will overtake your pal, Mallow. It might save you several miles of bad walking to tell me where Mallow is waiting to highjack me."

"No?" "Go to hell!" "Very well. Oblige me now by setting out—"

"Snap!" The driver did as directed. Gray poked the automatic, slipped in behind the steering wheel, and drove away into the night, followed by loud and earnest objections.

He was still smiling cheerfully when a mile farther on he brought the car to a stop and clambered out, passing forward into the illumination of the headlights, he busied himself there for several moments before resuming his journey.

There was no mistaking the road, but Gray did not bother to stick to the main-traveled course when detours or short cuts promised better going, for he knew full well that Mallow would be waiting, if at all, in some place he was bound to pass.

At last he beheld some distance ahead the white glare of two stationary lights. The road was narrow and sandy here, and shut in by banks of sagebrush; as he drew near a figure stepped out and stood in silhouette until his own lights picked it up. The figure waved its arms, and called attention to the car behind—evidently broken down. Here, then, the drama was to be played.

Gray brought his machine on at such a pace and so close to the man in the road that the latter was forced to step aside. He swung it far to the right, brought it back with a quick twist of the steering wheel, and killed his motor. He was now in the ditch and outside the blinding glare of the opposing headlights; the stalled machine was in the full illumination of his own lamps.

Contrary to Gray's expectations, the car in the road was empty, and the man who had hailed him was a stranger. As the latter approached, he inquired:

"What's wrong?" "Out of gas, I guess. Anyhow—"

"The speaker noted that there was but one new arrival, where he had expected two, and the discovery surprised him momentarily. He stammered, involuntarily he turned his head.

Gray looked in the same direction, without changing his position, and out of the corner of his eye he glimpsed a new figure emerging from the shadows behind him. Very clever! For at least he unexpected maneuver with his own car had made it necessary for both men to approach him from the same side.

While the first stranger continued to mumble Gray sat motionless, keenly conscious, meanwhile, of that other presence closing in upon him from the rear. He contemplated a violent start when a second voice cried:

"Don't move. I've got you covered."

"Why? It's—It's Mr. Mallow!" Gray hitched himself farther around in his seat and leaned forward in a justifiable amazement.

"Shut up!" Mallow snapped. "Prisk his!"

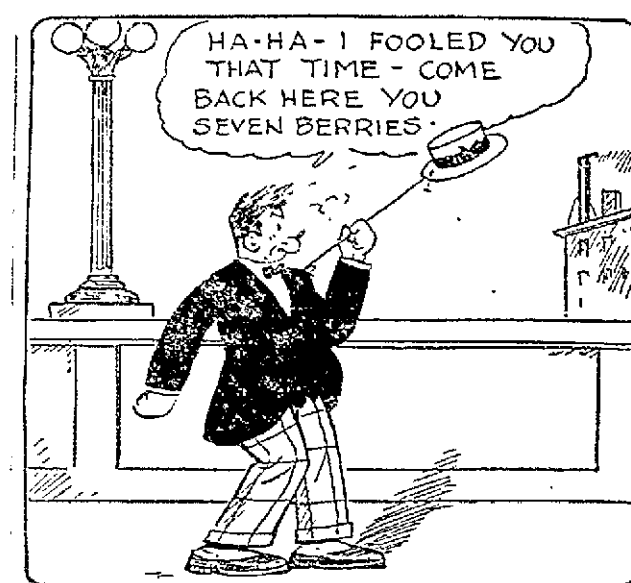

The command was cut short by a startled, throaty cry—a hoarse sound of astonishment and rage—and simultaneously a stranger, a phenomenal thing occurred. An unseen hand appeared to strike down both Mallow and his accomplice where they stood, and it smote them, moreover, with a palling force and terrifying effect.

The men understood vaguely what had afflicted them, for they had seen Gray lift one hand from the wheel, and out of that hand they had seen a stream of liquid, or a jet of aqueous vapor, leap.

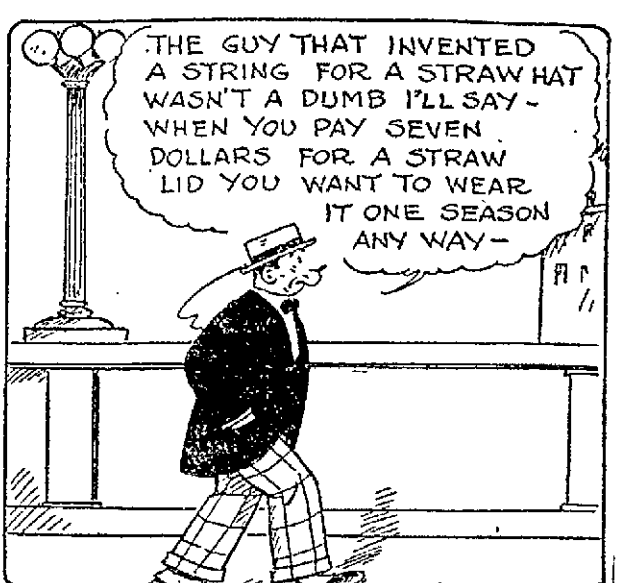

Gray squeezed again the rubber bulb that he had carried in his hand these last several miles, ejecting from it the last few drops of its contents, then he opened the car door, stepped out of it and stood over his straining victims.

Efficiency Is Crying Need Of Modern Kitchen

BY MARIAN HALE

New York—"The efficiency expert is needed more in the kitchen than in the factory."

Mrs. Newton C. Wing, head of the home economics department of the Atlanta Women's Club, is speaking. Stopping here, she gave me her ideas on the "job of keeping house, and how it could be lightened considerably by a little planning."

"The place where most women do a large part of their work and spend many hours a day is too frequently designed with no thought for comfort to say nothing of beauty," she told me. "If housework is to be transformed from drudgery to delight, the revolution must start in the kitchen."

"The ideal kitchen is small, but not crowded. The walls should be covered with washable material such as tile, enamel or any washable paint. The floor should be covered with linoleum, well waxed."

"The stove, table, sink and other pieces of furniture should be grouped according to their use so that extra steps may be avoided."

Even dishwashing may be robbed of its terrors if it is done according to the most scientific methods, she maintains.

TIME GAINED

"The sink, with its two large drain boards, should be placed next to the dining room or pantry," Mrs. Wing advises. "The dirty dishes should be placed on the high drain board where they may be picked up by the dishwasher's right hand, scrubbed under running water by a brush in the left hand and then put into the dishpan."

"Into the hot dishwater should be put one tablespoon of washing powder. Use a dishpan and place the dishes in a drain at the left. By the time you are ready to do the kettles and cooking dishes, they will be dry and can be put into the china closet, out of the way."

"Draining the dishes, scalded by boiling water, is more sanitary than wiping them with the dishcloth."

"Sinks and tables are usually much too low. They should be high enough so that without stooping one may touch the inside floor of the sink with the flat of the hand. For the average person about 36 inches is the correct height."

STEPS SAVED

"The stove should be next to the dining room door, across from the sink, to facilitate serving. Thus a hot water can be used to take food directly from the stove to the dining room and also to bring soiled dishes from the table to the sink."

"On the opposite side from the stove should be the kitchen cabinet and working table."

"If the kitchen is sufficiently large there should be a rear corner with a desk and bookcase above for working on kitchen accounts and keeping books, thus utilizing the spare moments which often occur in the kitchen while meals are cooking."

Mrs. Wing has several hundred women in her classes, many of whom are recent brides.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-COTT TO HER MOTHER, MRS. JOSEPH HAMILTON

DEAR MOTHER:

I had not realized that I had not written you for so long a time until I got your last letter. As you said in it, no one should worry about a bride on her wedding trip. Yet, dear mother, sometimes things do happen to brides during that happy month called the honeymoon. And I am sorry to say that I have been illustrating that fact.

I have had quite an accident, but I made Jack promise not to write anything to you about it. Each day I have been intending to write myself and each day I have put it off simply because the things that I was burning to say I could not and the things that I could say seemed so commonplace.

However, mother dear, this life is mostly made up of commonplace things. Jack was trying to tell me the other evening how monotonous was his work at the office and it seems to me that the last week here in the hotel has been absolutely without any thrills.

Perhaps it is because I had such a thrill a little while ago. I burned my hand quite badly.

It was a silly accident and one for which I was entirely too blame. I was foolish enough not to quickly reason before I gave myself the luxury of yielding to an impulse, but that does not make the pain of it all any easier to bear.

You see, I tried to grasp and put out some burning paper that promised to make sad havoc among some of my possessions that I treasure most and I foolishly kept my hand shut quite a while after the paper had dropped to the floor. When I opened it the blistered skin had pulled apart leaving the whole inner surface raw.

That is the reason I am dictating this letter to Jack's stenographer at his office, my hand being still done up in oil bandages.

We arrived home five days ago, returning a little earlier than I had expected because of my accident. Because of it we are staying in Jack's old room in the hotel. We have not tried to get an apartment as yet.

I have not been out very much. Jack and I have even had most of our dinners in our room. For I feel perfectly foolish to eat or even go about in public with my hand in bandages and my arm in a sling.

Jack has fortunately been very busy, since our return and evidently has not missed his old friends. He only comes back to the hotel to fall asleep right after dinner.

I want to get into our home, mother dear, for I intend if we only have the tiniest apartment it must be a home. It seems to me that I never missed the one I left as I do now.

Here comes Jack to drive me to the hotel. I'll finish this letter to-morrow.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Nancy Rescues Nick

Nancy flew away in her airplane to look for Nick.

She flew right over Bing-Bang Land and all the Bing-Bang Landers cried out, "There goes another of those queer birds like we saw a little while ago."

Soon she came to the place where the tin soldier camp was. She remembered what the Tinker Man had told her and flew very high so that none of them could shoot her. When she was right over the army, she reached for a gas bomb and dropped it. It was only a sleeping gas bomb really.

Then she leaned out and watched to see what would happen. Fidd!

She heard the bomb hit the ground and burst.

Almost instantly General Hobblesing.

Then Colonel Butter Cup fell over, delirious, fell over on the ground, snoring and Major Straight Back, and Captain Bow Legs and Lieutenant Shiny Boots all fell over, sound asleep.

Then the private soldiers and machine gunners and cavalry dropped over.

Now is my chance!" said Nancy to herself.

So she brought her airplane down to the ground and tiptoed softly over to the prison.

There was Nick looking out between the bars of the window.

"Quick!" he cried when he saw her. "The guard there has the key. It's in his belt."

Nancy carefully took the key from the sleeping soldier and unlocked the door.

Not only Nick but all the wooden soldier prisoners were free at last.

"Oh, thank you!" they said. "We're ever so much obliged."

And they marched back to their own camp.

Nancy and Nick got into Nancy's airplane and sailed away.

PISTACHIO ICE CREAM

By Bertha E. Shoultz

Mix one tablespoon flour and one fourth teaspoon salt in one cup sugar. Add one egg and beat thoroughly.

Cook in one pint milk until thickened. Strain, cool, add one quart thin cream, one teaspoon almond extract, one tablespoon vanilla and some green coloring. Freeze as usual and serve with crushed, sweetened strawberries.

NOTE—To color pure or spinach pure if the paste is used mix a little with half a cup of the custard, making a deep green color. Add this to the remainder of the custard, a little at a time, until the right shade of green is obtained.

FOR TAILORED SUITS

Gulmpees and vestees of sheer organdy are trimmed with hand-run tucks, real lace, and the finest of French embroidery.

ORCHID TONES

A lovely hat of orchid horsehair braid has a large bow at the back of uncut velvet ribbon in a deeper shade of purple. It is also bound with the darker shade.

CANNING CHERRIES

Cherries are best suited for canning and preserving, although they may be combined with other fruits and made into jams, conserves, marmalades, pickles, relishes and jellies.

Cherries may be canned either with or without the pits. If cherries are pitted before canning, they should be used at once, fermentation may result if they are allowed to stand. If used without pitting, they should be blanched—that is, dipped in boiling water for fifteen seconds and then dipped in cold water, or each cherry pricked with a needle; this seems to prevent splitting. In canning cherries use a syrup made in proportion of one cup of sugar to two and one-half cups of water for sweet cherries and one cup sugar to one and one-half cups of water for sour cherries. If a sweeter product is desired, use one and one-fourth cups of sugar to two cups of water for sweet cherries and one and one-fourth cups of sugar to one cup of water for sour cherries. In sterilizing cherries the flavor and texture more nearly resemble that of the fresh fruit if the temperature of the water-bath is maintained at 175 degrees Fahrenheit. If, however, a thermometer is not at hand, and if a cool place is not available for storage, cook the cherries in the water bath seven minutes for pint cans and twenty-five for quart cans after the water begins to boil, or under ten pounds pressure for five minutes.—From the Delicatour.

Every spoonful of Kellogg's Bran helps free you from toxic poisons!

Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved. Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments which could be headed off if people would only help rid themselves of this serious, health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and cathartics, which are dangerous to the delicate membranes of the intestines and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And it ret permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of Kellogg's Bran that sweeps and purges, ridding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to learn to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle on or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two table-spoonfuls for each person. Kellogg's makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes on package.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers.

UTILITY DRESS

Finely pleated skirts of flannel are worn with tailored silk blouses for business and sport.

The skirts may be either beige, brown or navy blue if they are plain colors, but many shops are showing printed fabrics, stripes and plaids in carefully woven harmonious colors as well.

Blouses of the type sketched are most popular. They are made either with long wide sleeves or with regulation tailored cuffs and are sure to be finished with a low waisted tailored belt. Heavy crepe in white or beige is the favorite material although with plain skirts blouses of colored silk prints are worn.

Woman's Pay Is $6,000 Yearly As Postmaster

Tampa, Fla.—When the mail's late or letters go astray in Tampa there isn't anything the courteous business man can do about it.

He can't cuss the postmaster. It wouldn't be gentlemanly, for the postmaster is a postmistress.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barnard took office upon the retirement of E. D. Tannert. During his term as postmaster she served as his secretary.

She is one of the highest-salaried women in the postal service. She has been in the Tampa postoffice for 18 years and in that period has multiplied her salary by ten.

Entering as a clerk at $600 a year, she worked up to the top. Her salary is now $6,000 a year.

Flappers Have Made Gift To Women's Cause

BY MARIAN HALE

New York—"The outward evidences of the flapper's independence are passing—the bobbed hair, short skirt and the rest of the uniform—but the real independence of thought, action and spirit she gained will never pass."

This is the good word given out for flappers by Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, one of the most influential women in politics today. Mrs. Miller was recently one of the two women delegates at large elected to the convention to revise the Missouri state constitution.

"We have so much to say about the independent action of the modern girl," she went on, "and so little recognition of the spiritual progress she is making."

"She has forced new standards of morality on a world, based on the equality of the sexes rather than on the old double standard. By understanding him instead of flattering him, and by abolishing many of the superficial conventions based on hypocrisy she has often been misunderstood by her mother and her elders."

MAN KNOWS HER

"But let it be said to her credit, she is not misunderstood by the young man of today."

"He knows that she is intellectually and spiritually honest. She is making things harder for her particular generation, but easier for the women who will follow."

Miss Flapper has also created new standards of physical beauty, based upon honesty and common sense, Mrs. Miller believes.

"One of the most splendid things she has done," she exclaimed enthusiastically, "was to make superb health fashionable and to make vivacity and mentality as attractive as beauty. She would be ashamed to 'enjoy poor health' once considered so womanly."

FREED WOMANKIND

"The natural foot, smartly and neatly but comfortably shod, is one of her innovations. Another is the natural figure, the normal waist line, and the general unfettering of the body as well as the unshackling of the mind."

"When I hear people say that woman could be coaxed back into binding corsets if fashion demanded it I feel they are entirely mistaken. I believe women would be just as likely to give up their physical as their mental freedom."

"The young woman of today is on the right track. History will give her her due even if her own generation does not."

COLORFUL STITCHING

Gaily colored stitching worked in solid bands in imitation of flat braid is a favorite way of trimming the frocks and coats of wool, designed for early fall wear.

and popular. Baskets of flowers filled her office the day she took charge and postal employees gave her a banquet at the Hillsboro Hotel.

Household Suggestions

BREAD VARIETIES

Vary the bread you provide for your family. Besides white bread remember to have bran, rice, whole wheat, rye and brown bread. Each has its particular virtues.

PICKLED GOODS

Keep a little bag of mustard and horseradish in the mouth of a pickle jar and the contents will not mold.

PRESERVING RHUBARB

Cut fresh rhubarb into inch pieces, pack in jars and stand under the cold water faucet until all bubbles have disappeared. Seal and place in a dark place and it will remain good for a long time and may be used as fresh plant.

LIQUIDS IN GLASS

Never keep acids or liquids in tin. Use glasses or earthenware containers.

AVOID STICKY DISHES

Be sure to grease well the dishes in which cakes and puddings containing milk and molasses are baked. They are apt to stick.

TO KEEP MEAT

Here is a scheme for keeping meat which campers may find useful. Cover each piece of meat with corn meal or oatmeal so thickly that it cannot come in contact with any other substance and place it in a current of air as cool as can be found. Do not wrap in paper which will soon spoil meat under the best of conditions.

I Am A Telephone Cableman

THERE was a fire in that office building shortly after midnight and the cable carrying the telephone wires was burned off.

We've been working on this job since 2 o'clock this morning and now when I get all these pairs of wires spliced to the new section of cable, the work will be completed and the telephones ready for use again.

It's nearly 8 A. M. now and I want to finish the job so the telephone service will be ready when the offices open up. You know, about a thousand telephone calls will go out of that building today. Our subscribers are depending on us to keep the lines of communication open.

Fire, hail and high water may interrupt the telephone service but you'll find us on the job early getting things back in shape. That's what we telephone folks call the Spirit of Service.
